WILSON CALLS CONGRESS IN EXTRA SESSION APRIL 2

Emergency Created by Sinking of American Ships Causes President to Call Session Two Weeks Earlier Than at First Planned.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 21.—Congress will reply to Germany. President Wilson has so decreed. Today he issued a new proclamation calling the extraordinary session of the 65th congress for one week from next Monday—April 2. This advances the proposed date two weeks. The time would have been further advanced but for physical reasons. Some congressmen are in the Danish West Indies. Others are at Panama. All will be needed here and as much time as was possible was given by the president for them to reach Washington.

Significant in the extreme is the reason assigned in the call for the special session. It expresses in a single phrase the sentiment of the president. In the formal proclamation the reason assigned for the special communication is "to consider grave questions of national policy." And that is the task which President Wilson will set for the new legislative body.

The president admits that there is no longer anything that the executive power can do to protect American lives and interests from German aggression. He and his advisors believe that Germany is making war on the United States. Congress is the only body in the United States which can authorize war. President Wilson will lay the situation before it when it convenes, will point out that American men and women have been ruthlessly murdered on the high seas and will ask that congress decide what policy this government shall adopt as a reply.

No doubt was entertained here today, as to what that answer is to be. An immediate official declaration by congress that a state of war has existed, probably since the drowning of Mrs. Mary Hoy and Miss Elizabeth Roy of Chicago, following the torpedoing and sinking without warning of the Cunard liner Laconia, is expected. The few senators and representatives still remaining in town declared their opinion that this probably will be the action.

The proclamation calling congress together in extraordinary session as signed by the president, was as follows:

"By the President of the United States of America:
"A Proclamation:
"Whereas the public interest requires that the congress of the United States should be convened in extra session at 12 o'clock noon on the second day of April, 1917, to receive a communication concerning grave matters of national policy which should be taken immediately under consideration.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and declare that an extraordinary occasion requires the congress of the United States to convene in extra session at the capitol in the city of Washington on the second day of April at 12 o'clock noon, of which all persons who at that time shall be entitled to act as members thereof are hereby required to take notice.

"Given under my hand and the seal of the United States of America the 21st day of March, the Year of Our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Seventeen and of the independence of the United States the One Hundred and Forty First.

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."
So soon as the president had authorized the preparation of the proclamation he and Dr. Cary T. Grayson left for the Virginia golf links, despite a drizzling rain, the president played a round of his favorite exercise. Meanwhile telegrams were being sent to all members of the next congress apprising them of the situation.

Fervent activity marked the day in all branches of the government connected in any way with the plans for the national defense. The navy department continuing making awards for submarine chasers while the war department proceeded to perfect plans for everything that will be needed for the army of defense. The department today was in possession of the recommendations of the commanding officers of all of the regiments in the regular establishment that sixty men from each unit who are sufficiently qualified act as junior officers in the volunteer regiments which will be formed under the initial call for 500,000 volunteers expected to be issued by the president as soon as congress shall have declared war.

Meanwhile officials were following with the most intense interest the vague reports which are filtering through from neutral countries in Europe of grave disturbances in interior Germany and of the arrival of what may be a new German peace body in Holland. It was conceded that following the Russian revolution now complete and successful, the "strategic retreat" of the German troops on the west front, the bitter criticism of the Prussian government by the Socialists; the admission by

RUSSIA FACES YELLOW PERIL

Hordes of Asiatics That Have Come Into the Country Since the War Began May Greatly Influence the Future.

In view of the fact that Russia is now passing through the most critical and tragic phase of her history, the following article based on the observations of a neutral diplomat, is of the utmost timeliness and importance. It raises the great question: "Is Russia to be denationalized?" The war has broken down the barriers raised against the "Yellow Peril" and hundreds of thousands of Chinese, Japanese and Koreans have poured through to reinforce the hundreds of thousands of Persians already at work in Russia. A dark picture of the future is painted.

(By Camillo Cianfarra.)

Rome, March 5, by mail to New York, March 21.—An Italian delegation headed by Senator Scialoja, has just returned from Russia where it went to strengthen the politico-economic relations between that country and Italy and news has been brought here of tremendous problems which face the Russian government and which are clamoring for quick solution.

During the thirty-two months of continuous war, the commissioners learned, Russia has not only done her full share and more in behalf of the Entente but has accomplished marvels in the way of railway construction. The construction of the Kola Peninsula line has insured Russia an all-winter ice free port.

During the thirty-two months of war, a neutral diplomat informed the Italians, the attention of Russia has steadily been fixed on the western border where she is now fighting her greatest of all wars. The resources of the country were placed wholly at the disposal of the army and the heart of the empire thrashed in harmony with that of her sons in arms. Notwithstanding this, the problem of transportation is on the point of frustrating the nation's determination to win the war, the diplomat said. Russia still lacks around 100,000 miles of railroads in order to move swiftly her crops and supplies from the central and eastern agricultural districts to the western front. The few existing lines are clogged and on some of them traffic has been at a standstill for weeks.

Besides, for the first time in her history, Russia is face to face with famine. The reasons for this are obvious. As another well informed diplomat put it, the recall to the colors of millions of men and the huge losses sustained greatly reduced the labor supply. In proportion to her vast area Russia is scantily populated. Besides, a good part of her population, though within the borders of the empire, are beyond the reach of the law of the state. These tribes Russia tried to mobilize for the building of the Kola Peninsula railway, but the efforts were only in part successful due to the nomadic spirit of the peoples with whom she was dealing. Then the question of importing Chinese labor was first discussed. Russia had sent a military mission to Persia to recruit laborers and 400 were taken to Russia to reinforce the 200,000 Persians already employed in the Baku oil fields. The new comers were sent into the agricultural districts in the Caucasus and the basin of the Lower Volga.

But even these incoming laborers were not enough. In order to strengthen the western front Russia had to send more and more men from her eastern provinces and the barrier she had raised against the invasion of the "Yellow Peril" fifty years ago was broken down. Thousands of Chinese laborers were imported to work on the Kola railway. With the coolies came Chinese merchants. Today Petrograd as well as Moscow and Odessa have big "Chinatowns." It can be said that they are sucking the blood of Russia. A stream of gold flows from them to the Chinese Empire. Slowly and stealthily they are invading the agricultural districts, unopposed by the ignorant Russian peasants, and are taking the place of the moujiks now fighting the war. Japanese followed on the footsteps of the Chinese. Thousands of them are now employed in the machine shops and arsenals of the Russian Empire. They earn big wages and save most of their money.

For the present, the neutral diplomat said, this invasion cannot be stemmed. Last year nearly 600,000 prisoners and 300,000 Polish refugees helped till the soil, but they are not sufficient. This year Chinese, Japanese, Persian and Koreans must be employed on a bigger scale than ever. If the war continues Russia must need even more yellow immigrants. The future of Russia is most dark in respect to her manhood and the preservation of her racial purity.

Kingston City Hospital Notes.

Helen Van Derzee of No. 62 Murray street was conveyed in the city ambulance to the Kingston City Hospital on Tuesday.

Hiram Terwilliger, who has been a patient at the hospital, was removed to his home, No. 759 Abel street, in the ambulance on Tuesday. Mrs. Laura MacMillan, while she will be confined for several weeks, is slowly improving at the hospital.

At the present time the hospital has a large number of patients.

Better Pay City Taxes.

Friday is the last day when city taxes can be paid with the additional 2 per cent, and after that 5 per cent will be added to the taxes.

THE GERMAN WITHDRAWAL IN FRANCE.

The latest official reports reveal that the British have moved ahead on a forty-five-mile line, from Arras to Chaumes, while the French have advanced on a line extending from Chaumes to Crouy, about thirty-seven miles. The gain is shown between the dotted and solid lines, the greatest British advance being south of Arras and the greatest French toward Iam. The names of the important towns occupied are underscored.

DROWNED LANDS CASE IS RESUMED

When supreme court convened on Tuesday afternoon the action brought by Augustus Geiger against Dwight Divine for damages caused by the alleged unlawful flooding of Mr. Geiger's farm lands at Ulster Heights, was again taken up. The action will require some time yet to complete. A number of witnesses are still to be called by the defense.

On Tuesday afternoon two small model structures made to represent the old dam and the new dam constructed by Mr. Divine were brought into court and introduced into evidence. The question involved in the action is whether Mr. Divine has by the new dam caused the waters to be dammed up higher than his water rights permit. Mr. Divine has a water right on the stream and the question is how much water is allowed to be dammed up by that right.

An old water right has existed for years but for some time has remained idle and only the oldest residents know just how much water was impounded by the old dam. After the water right was allowed to lay idle for a time a hole was made in the old dam to prevent damage during the spring floods and so for a long time the water has been at a low level in the pond at The Cape. The question is how high did Tuttle keep the water while he operated the mill there (or so high as he kept it will Mr. Divine be allowed to keep it for the water right owned by Mr. Tuttle is the one bought and now owned by Mr. Divine.

The action brought by Jacob Weber against Jacob Raskin and another, an action on contract, was announced settled on Tuesday and taken from the day calendar. Traver & Murray appear for the plaintiff and Isadore Rothenberg appears for the defendant. No further cases were added to the day calendar.

An Eddyville Company.

The Vapor Car Heating Company, Inc., with principal office at Eddyville, has filed a certificate of incorporation with the secretary of state at Albany and in the Ulster county clerk's office. The company is organized to manufacture devices for use in connection with railroads, steamboats, etc., and has a capital of $3,500,000, consisting of 350,000 shares of the par value of $100 each, of which 24,000 shares are common and 11,000 shares are preferred stock. The directors are Otto R. Barnett, P. H. Truman, G. Y. Skinner, L. A. Falkenberg, H. M. Gillespie, R. Kuehn, O. A. Rosboro and Winthrop Gold, all of Chicago, and Samuel B. Howard of New York city. The incorporators and stockholders are George V. Rilly, William J. Neelan and Louis H. Gunther, all of New York city.

Dance at Stone Ridge.

There will be a basketball game at the Stone Ridge Grange Hall, between the "Centrals" of Kingston and the Stone Ridge team, on Friday evening, March 23. This will be the "rubber" as each team has won one game. The game will be followed by a dance, for which Steve Miller of Kingston will furnish the music. Game called for 8 o'clock sharp. Refreshments will be served.

LONDON REPORTS RIOTS IN GERMANY

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 21.—The success of the Russian revolution is causing widespread agitation in Germany. A wireless dispatch from Zurich today. A report was current here that serious riots have occurred in Germany, especially in Dresden, Leipzig and Munich. Troops put down the disorders in Leipzig. It was stated.

A Central News dispatch from Amsterdam said that the unconfirmed rumor was current there that the unrest in Germany over the food shortage and the war losses was growing in strength.

STOCKS SHOW A TENDENCY TO SAG

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 21.—The announcement that an extra session of congress had been called came as no surprise to the street, and the market at the opening showed pronounced strength. Later, however, realizing sales were in evidence, and those issues, which had made gains, dropped to or below yesterday's final figures. The steel issues showed pronounced strength in the initial dealings. First sales of Steel common being 25,000 shares at 11 1/4 to 11 3/4, against 11 1/4 at the close yesterday, but within a few minutes the stock declined to yesterday's final figure. Bethlehem Steel stock rose 3 1/2 points to 142 1/2 and the regular stock opened a point up at 141. American Can advanced 1 1/2 to 49 1/2, followed by a quick reaction to 48 1/2. Sloss-Sheffield rose 1 1/2 points to 74 1/2. The copper shares were generally in supply at concessions. Utah declined 1 1/2 points to 114 1/2, and American smelting, which opened 3 1/2 higher at 105 1/2, declined to 107 1/2. The market was generally under pressure, with offerings at concessions at the end of the first fifteen minutes. The Marine issues were weak, the preferred declining from 92 to 90 1/2, and the common 3/4 to 39 1/4.

ATTEMPT TO KILL RUSSIAN MINISTER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Petrograd, March 21.—An attempt has been made to assassinate A. F. Kerenski, minister of justice in the new provisional government of Russia.

The would-be assassin committed suicide afterwards. He is believed to have been the tool of reactionaries in the "Army group."

An attempt was made by the man, afterwards identified as a captain in the cavalry, to see Dr. Kerenski on the pretext that he had a letter to deliver. Suspicions were aroused and upon search a loaded revolver, but no letter, was found.

The cavalry officer, by a sudden move, regained the weapon and shot himself, falling dead at the feet of his captor.

ALBANY'S EYES ON CONSTABULARY JOB

A Senate Doorkeeper Being Roomed For Deputy Superintendent Before New Bill Has Passed the Assembly.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 21.—The Mills State Constabulary bill having passed the senate and those in the legislature who are endeavoring to speed the measure to the executive chamber having been assured that it will also pass the assembly, the friends of William C. Merrill, principal doorkeeper of the senate, are setting the wheels in motion whereby he will be appointed a deputy superintendent of the new semi-military body.

Those who are behind Mr. Merrill and the list includes powerful legislators, it is said—point out that Mr. Merrill is peculiarly qualified for the position he seeks because of the fact that he is a former member of the New York police force and has an honorary discharge as a sergeant in the regular army of the United States.

During his period of police duty in New York city, Mr. Merrill was for a considerable time a member of the traffic squad and in such capacity, his backers declare, he performed more than one act of bravery which helped him to establish an enviable record.

Touching upon his career in the army those who know Mr. Merrill best point out that he rose from the ranks to the office of sergeant within a few years, which they maintain is an endorsement in itself of his fitness to command.

In that the office of deputy superintendent of the state constabulary requires a man who has had both police and military experience, or at least it is supposed to, or in any event such training could be nothing else than advantageous the backers of Mr. Merrill will present his name with pride and ask that his appointment be made to the office he seeks.

Another feature which Mr. Merrill is exhibiting in his cap is the fact that he has the endorsement of the New York Veteran Police Association for a deputy superintendent. During the present month he has received numerous letters from his old time comrades on the "force" who have wished him well and stated that they were with him. When the organization above named meets in April, it is expected that a resolution endorsing him formally for the place will be adopted. There are twelve hundred members of the New York Veteran Police Association.

Mr. Merrill is a man somewhat over six feet in height and bears about five pounds as though it were but a mere handful of ounces. He is still a young man, in appearance this side of fifty, or not far beyond the half century mark. All his life he has been in the centre of scenes of turmoil or threatened strife so that the shadow of danger fall around him as naturally as though it were a garment.

Four Hurt by a Blast.

A premature explosion of dynamite in a rock tunnel at Alsen early Friday morning injured four employees of the Alsen Portland Cement Company. Foreman Peter Smith had his right leg fractured. Thomas and Cornelius Clearwater, of the Saugerties road, had their legs badly bruised and Arvi Jarvi suffered severe scalp wounds. All will recover. The battery box man had the switch "on" and did not know it.

A Gift From Comptroller.

County Treasurer Wendell S. Sherman of Greene county received a pleasant surprise Friday in the form of two handsome volumes of the Life and Times of Washington, published by the state and sent to the county treasurer with the compliments of Comptroller Eugene M. Travis.

GERMAN RETREAT MAY BE A TRICK

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 21.—That the great German retreat between Arras and the Aisne river and the German attacks on the Verdun front are intended to mask plans for a gigantic Teuton enterprise on some other portion of the western front was the belief expressed by military experts today.

While the advance of the Anglo-French troops is slower now than it has been at any other time since the pursuit of the fleeing Germans began, it continues, nevertheless, without a halt. The factors contributing most powerfully to the slackening of the Allies' headlong advance were the stiffened resistance of the reinforced Germans, bad weather, muddy and upturn roads and the desolated condition of the country through which the march extends.

War critics in London and Paris express widely divergent opinions. Some hold that, instead of making preparations for a new German offensive on the western front, von Hindenburg hopes to take advantage of the situation created on the eastern front by the revolution in Russia and is moving all available troops eastward from the French theater of war for a mighty stroke against the Russians. The removal of these troops, it was said, made it necessary for the Germans to move into stronger positions in the west.

Northeast of Bapaume heavy fighting has developed around Croisilles where the Germans, strongly supported by machine gun sections, made the stand against the advanced French and British. East of Guiseard the Germans attempted another stand, pouring in a galling fire from hidden machine gun positions upon the advancing dragons.

The French advancing against St. Quentin have reached Roupy, only four miles distant, and dispaten from the front today reported a lively engagement in that sector.

Further south, on the road to the Tonten stronghold of LaFere, the French have occupied the railroad junction of Tergnier and are pushing eastward.

GERMANY TO MAKE SECOND PEACE MOVE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 21.—Germany is preparing for another peace move. This is the gist of a despatch from The Hague printed in the London Times today.

According to the telegram, German envoys are at The Dutch capital seeking to learn how the United States and other neutrals would view another peace attempt by Germany.

Germany, it is said, is prepared to lean favorably towards some general scheme of autonomy for the races of Europe, particularly in regard to Austria-Hungary. At the same time, it is believed, Germany is preparing to make political concessions of her own people.

The delegates bear passports issued by the German foreign office. New York, March 21.—The correspondent of the New York Times at The Hague today sent the following cablegram relative to the reported renewal of German peace efforts:

"The Hague, March 20.—The Times correspondent learns that German agents within the last few days have visited Holland and Switzerland with the object of sounding Allied feeling in the event of fresh peace proposals. The agents were a prominent commercial personage well known to the chamber of commerce, also a person employed in the German war service at home, and others. A German government official said that events in Russia have modified the situation. Germany can no longer claim her eastern objects, such as freedom for the Poles, Lithuanians and other races subject to Russia since these will obtain full liberty through the Russian revolution. It is suggested that Germany might be able to consider restoring Poland to Russian influence under a guarantee of complete autonomy.

"Another German visiting Holland said there were discussions in Vienna concerning the possibility of providing autonomy for the smaller peoples within existing state limits without severe disturbances to existing frontiers. It is understood that inquiries, particularly regarding America on this point, are being made cautiously by way of Switzerland."

Arbor Day in Installments.

State Commissioner of Education Fluey has designated April 20 Arbor Day for Long Island, the counties of southeastern New York including the counties of Orange and Putnam; April 27 Arbor Day for the central part of the state, and May 4 for the counties of Warren, Hamilton, Herkimer, Lewis, Jefferson, St. Lawrence, Franklin, Clinton and Essex, also Ulster, Delaware and Greene.

Fishing on Ashokan Reservoir.

Fishing permits on the Ashokan reservoir may not be issued this year on account of the guard being stationed there. The city authorities have not determined their course for this year but have refused to issue licenses upon deposit of $5 as in the past, stating their intention of waiting until the situation clears.

"Meticulous"

The use of the word "meticulous" in the sense of "particular" may be understood by the following definitions, which we quote in answer to a request for the citation of authorities: Century Dictionary, "timid; over-careful;" New Standard, "over-cautious;" Oxford Concise, "over-scrupulous about minute details." The word is from the Latin "meticulosus," "full of fear," the derivation being from "metus," "fear."

DISHES WITH CURRY.

Curry as a flavor adds variety to various dishes, which taste the American perhaps needs to cultivate. In India it is used so commonly that a dish of fish flesh or fowl without it is unpalatable.

Chicken Curry.—The fowl is cut into ten pieces.

Brown a medium-sized onion with a clove of garlic in an ounce of butter until well fried, then add two teaspoonfuls of curry and half a pint of broth. When boiling hot add the chicken and stew for half an hour, adding more water if needed. When the chicken is tender add a generous squeeze of lemon and a pinch of salt.

Fish Curry.—Cook together two small onions, an ounce of butter, a few cloves and after they have been stewed a few minutes add a tablespoonful of curry powder, a teaspoonful of curry paste and a pint of broth passed through a sieve and added to the mixture. Cut two pounds of fresh fish into small pieces, add to the mixture and stew half an hour before serving.

Veal Curry.—Cut two pounds of lean mutton or veal into bits. Place in a stewpan three tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, an apple, cut in slices, two cloves and an ounce of butter; stir over the heat until the mixture is slightly browned. Add a pint of water, a tablespoonful of curry and a half tablespoonful of flour, when it has boiled up add the meat, then stew very slowly for an hour and a half. Serve with a squeeze of lemon juice and salt for seasoning.

Curry Sauce.—Take four large onions, two apples, a half cupful of butter and a quarter of a pound of lean ham, a blade of mace, two bay leaves, four pepper corns, and two sprigs of thyme. Cook altogether until the onions are brown and tender, then add two tablespoonfuls of curry powder, one of vinegar and two of flour, a teaspoonful of sugar and one of salt, a quart of water; cook altogether to a pulp, pass through a sieve and cook five minutes. This will keep in cool weather for a month.

LANDLORDS ARE GETTING TOGETHER

Protective Association Being Organized to Protect Landlords from Tenants Who Pay no Rent in Winter and Move in Summer.

A Landlords' Protective Association is being organized in Kingston to protect the landlord from the tenant who pays no rent in the winter and then moves in the summer to another location. It has been the custom of many landlords to allow the tenants to "hang up" the rent during the winter months when some tenants find it difficult to make ends meet, but it has been found that some tenants instead of feeling thankful to the landlord for his consideration move at the first opportunity when weather conditions permit—and sometimes when it doesn't. It has also been found that some tenants when they find the coal bin running low tear out the shelving in closets and use it for firewood, and also use whatever woodwork they can find for the same purpose. The idea of the new association is for the landlords to meet every so often and compare notes, and in that way tabs may be kept on undesirable tenants.

PAGEANT MOST PICTURESQUE

Albany Avenue Baptist Church Scene of Interesting Event.

The "Pageant of Nations," given by some eighty young people at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church Friday evening was a great success, and was very picturesque. The entertainment was in the nature of a missionary presentation. Miss Lucy Merritt, the organist, after an organ prelude played "Onward Christian Soldiers," as a vested choir of young women, under the leadership of Mrs. Azenath Hayes, solo soprano of the church, marched to their places in the organ loft singing as they went. They were preceded by Adjutant Mott of the Salvation Army whose cornet playing added much to the effectiveness of the performance. Miss Ethel Hull, then told the story of the "King's Highway," or the "Pageant of Nations," which were receiving the light of Christianity. This was followed by a procession of Egyptian women, clad in robes of black, with heavy white veils bound close to the head with jeweled bands. Miss Rebecca Benson, Miss Olive Shurter and Miss Viola Freer told of the missionary educational work being carried on among the women of Egypt. Next came a high caste Indian woman, (Mrs. Haines) charmingly dressed in oriental fashion, and with her, ten child widows in gowns and veils of white. Mrs. Haines told of the child wives and widows in India, and their only hope in Christianity, while Arietta Lowe, one of the child widows told of the joy with which the Christian schools for girls were heralded. The Burmese women in gay colored dress with long scarfs, were represented by Mrs. George Styles, Jr., and Miss Lucy Healey, who told of the splendid work of the missionaries in their land. The young Korean women, in their pretty costumes with short kimonos, were led by Miss Lucinda Rich, and had with them two college graduates—the Misses Lulu Van Steenburgh and Edna Markle—from the first college for women, who told of their educational work among their less fortunate sisters. The Chinese girls were fascinating in their pretty pajama costumes with hats made of gay Chinese lanterns. They were led by their missionary teacher (Mrs. Moulton), and while she served tea to all, squatting on the floor in true oriental fashion, the Misses Elizabeth Humphrey, Dorothy Moulton, Blanch Avery and Florence Rappleyea told of the good that Christian education was bringing to the girls of the Kingdom. One of the prettiest groups was that of the Japanese Kindergarten of some twelve little tots, in gay kimonos, carrying big chrysanthemums, and led by Mrs. Raynor. While each little girl had some part in the story of missions in Japan, Mary Coffin and Helen Strickland were the chief speakers. After telling their story, the little girls gave an exceedingly pretty drill.

The final appearance of all the nations was very effective with Miss Lillian Healey as America, Miss Donald Pultz as color bearer, a group of flag draped little girls and another group of Boy Scouts leading the procession. All were artistically assembled on the platform and the entire audience joined them in singing "America." Throughout there was much appropriate music by the choir, and both choir and performers were given many hearty compliments for the excellence of the entertainment which was witnessed by a church full of people.

Had Courage of His Convictions.

Francis Bacon, who was born in London January 22, 1560, had an aversion for dueling, a practice prevalent in England in his day, observes a writer in the Washington Post. He lived from 1560 to 1626. The great essayist made an address against dueling, in a chamber session in proceedings against two men—one for writing and sending a challenge, the other for delivering it. Bacon was then king's attorney general.

Wealth in Alaskan Waters.

Nearly all Alaskan waters teem with herring, whose value as a food fish is just beginning to be recognized in those parts. Important in Alaskan fisheries is the whaling industry. The species of whale most common are the hump-back, fin-back, sulphur-bottom and sperm. The sperm whale is plentiful about Resurrection bay and Cook inlet waters. A good-sized sperm whale is worth about $3,000. The great Alaska salmon industry is the most important industry in Alaska next to mining.

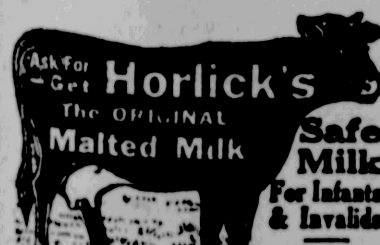

Bearit—Buller has failed for half a million, and his creditors will get about fifty thousand. Lambiegh—How does he feel about it? Bearit—Sore, of course. Fifty thousand is a lot of money to give up.—Exchange.

Novel Use of Handkerchiefs.

With the Jacobite revolution of 1745 in England Pelham, bethinking himself of an old device which had served the government so well in the most critical period of Anne's reign, caused to be printed on several thousand handkerchiefs portraits of those of the young pretender's adherents who had escaped and were in hiding. These portraits, sent all over the country and hung upon every blank wall, led to the capture and execution of many fugitives.

POVERTY AND DRINK

TO what extent the present suffering among the poor is due to the use of liquor nobody knows. But there are hosts of hungry people whose sufferings are due to unjust economic conditions and not at all to drink, said a prominent clergyman in a recent newspaper article.

It has been clearly demonstrated that as working people improve their industrial conditions the tendency to use strong drink has decreased and light beer like our has been substituted. In such instances greater industry and sobriety always follow. Stand by workers when they battle against poverty! For while drink drives many a man to poverty, poverty also drives many a man to drink!

OLD STOCK LAGER

The order supper that was held at the school house March 9 was well attended. Net proceeds, $15.67.

Herman Rosenkrantz and Arthur U. Davis spent Wednesday in Kingston.

Mrs. Della Davis returned Saturday from Accord, where she has been spending the week with her sister.

Miss Hilda Chambers spent last week with relatives at Krumville.

DeWitt Bailey was in Ellenville on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Hornbeck were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Schuman and family at Krumville.

Miss Della Van Vliet and gentleman friend were out enjoying a drive Sunday afternoon.

DeWitt Hornbeck and Kenneth Chambers will leave for Mohonk Lake April 1, where they have employment for the summer.

There was no school last week on account of illness of our teacher, Miss Hill, who is confined to her home with a severe attack of the grip. Her many friends in this place hope for her speedy recovery.

"Meticulous."

The use of the word "meticulous" in the sense of "particular" may be understood by the following definitions, which we quote in answer to a request for the citation of authorities: Century Dictionary, "thorough; over-careful." New Standard, "over-cautious; Oxford Concise, "over-scrupulous about minute details." The word is from the Latin "meticulosus," "full of fear," the derivation being from "metus," "fear."

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

1471—A Simple, Serviceable Model.

What housekeeper or home worker does not appreciate a "corner-me-all" apron of this kind. It is a simple style, good for gingham, lawn, percale, cambric, denim, cretonne or saten. The fulness may be held over the back by the belt, that may be slipped under the front or may hold the front on the outside. The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, medium and large. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for the medium size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Roadout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 10 cents in silver or stamps for our up-to-date 1917 large Spring and Summer Fashion Catalogue, containing over 550 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Garments in Current Fashions, a Concise and Comprehensive Article on Dressmaking, also some Points for the Needle, (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

A Complete Manual in Crochet and Tatting!

Just what you will find in our new book, "A Complete Manual in Crochet and Tatting." It contains over 100 patterns for crocheting and tatting, and is a complete guide for the beginner and the expert alike. It is a book that every woman should have in her home.

DISHES WITH CURRY.

Curry as a flavor adds variety to various dishes, which taste the American perhaps needs to cultivate. In India it is used so commonly that a dish of fish flesh or fowl without it is unpalatable.

Chicken Curry.

The fowl is cut into ten pieces. Brown a medium-sized onion with a clove of garlic in an ounce of butter until well fried, then add two teaspoonfuls of curry and half a pint of broth. When boiling hot add the chicken and stew for half an hour, adding more water if needed. When the chicken is tender add a generous squeeze of lemon and a pinch of salt. Fish Curry.—Cook together two small onions, an ounce of butter, a few cloves and after they have been stewed a few minutes add a tablespoonful of curry powder, a teaspoonful of curry paste and a pint of broth passed through a sieve and added to the mixture. Cut two pounds of fresh fish into small pieces, add to the mixture and stew half an hour before serving.

Veal Curry.—Cut two pounds of lean mutton or veal into bits. Place in a stewpan three tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, an apple, cut in slices, two cloves and an ounce of butter; stir over the heat until the mixture is lightly browned. Add a pint of water, a tablespoonful of curry and a half tablespoonful of flour, when it has boiled up add the meat, then stew very slowly for an hour and a half. Serve with a squeeze of lemon juice and salt for seasoning.

Curry Sauce.—Take four large onions, two apples, a half cupful of butter and a quarter of a pound of lean ham, a blade of mace, two bay leaves, four pepper corns, and two sprigs of thyme. Cook altogether until the onions are brown and tender, then add two tablespoonfuls of curry powder, one of vinegar and two of flour, a teaspoonful of sugar and one of salt, a quart of water; cook altogether to a pulp, pass through a sieve and cook five minutes. This will keep in cool weather for a month.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 21, 1917.

According to Albany reports, the Federal engineers are credited with approving the Deeper-Hudson project as work for the Federal Government. It is about time. The river traffic and the possibilities of waterway transportation from the Great Lakes to the port of New York are becoming apparent with the prospective completion of the barge canal. The need for the deepening of the Hudson and the propriety of a Congressional appropriation therefor are plain and require no argument. According to the engineers in charge, it will be necessary for the State to co-operate in such project by assisting in providing suitable terminal facilities, a matter already taken in hand by State Engineer Williams. Terminal facilities are essential to the enjoyment of the extended waterway system by the cities of the Hudson Valley and in this respect at least, Kingston is a step ahead of other municipalities and of the Federal Government program. It is to be hoped that the State Engineer's office will soon give out the data on the local development, as the importance of Rondout shipping is such as to justify early activities on actual construction, once the Legislature makes the necessary appropriation.

According to the calendar, Spring made her appearance today and the atmosphere is for once in happy harmony with the date. The ice has also made its exit from the river below Kingston Point, the departure being aided by the initial trip of the Benjamin B. Odell north of Poughkeepsie this season. Altogether, with fair weather marking the journey of the sun across the line, it may be fair to assume there will be some delightful days in immediate prospect. Of course, there being a majority of cloudy days through the year, the old-time weather prophets used to play it safe and make their estimates accordingly, like those seers among the ancients who, knowing that ill fortune was the common experience of humankind, used to predict calamities of all sorts and usually "got away with it," as every special occasion would be marked with some untoward happening or other. In these days, when the unexpected is constantly happening, it is just as easy to prophesy fair weather for a change. There is a mental stimulus attached to looking forward to something beside war, and other troubles that is most valuable.

A New York manufacturer, who recently died, directed in his will that "all signs and symbols of mourning be dispensed with" by his family, and that $250 be expended on a dinner or banquet for his relatives and friends at which "they should spend a cheerful evening in their recollection of him." A dinner for a limited number costing $250 would make a cheerful evening even in a "bone-dry" state, which New York is not. Doubtless the deceased was aware of this and he wanted his family to be refreshed with smiles and bright array instead of being further depressed by long faces and the gloomy habiliments of mourning. Perhaps also he regarded the latter as both inappropriate and inconsistent among those who profess as an article of faith a belief in a happy future state for the souls of all who have lived worthy lives in the body. In any case, though the slaves of fashion in a tradition-burdened world may call him an eccentric, the philosopher must regard him as a very considerate and sensible man.

If it is true that there are only 100 competent aviators in the United States, the president of the Aero Club of New England has done well to call for the enactment of a law to forbid "looping the loop," vertical diving and other feats as unnecessary as they are hazardous, which aviators vainly glorify in indulging in. In the event of war more than 100 competent aviators will be needed in the Government service, and to check needless daring and thus to preserve many of their lives is highly desirable. This is by no means an unimportant matter, for experience and observation unite in pointing toward the conclusion that the daring loop of loops must sooner or later meet his death.

American headlines based on London dispatches have stated that the Allies are "driving the beaten enemy out of France." As wireless from Berlin also admits that the British and French have "occupied several towns" in "a strip of land systematically abandoned by us," it is safe to conclude that at the point indicated the Allies have undoubtedly advanced and the Germans retreated. But future events alone can show how important the results of these developments may be.

"You never say anything about the American eagle in your speeches." "No," replied Senator Sorghum. "My people out home get tired of that style of oratory. They sent me word that they weren't keeping me in Washington to specialize in ornithology."—Washington Star.

An Eye to Business.

A party bent on "seeing London" rolled out of Hyde Park in a big automobile and listened with undisciplined interest to the guide's explanation of the various places of interest. Presently they passed an ancient edifice surrounded by a high brick wall. "That is the town house of the Duke of Dea, one of our largest landed proprietors," said the guide.

The eyes of the beautiful young American girl on the rear seat were suddenly illuminated. "Who landed him?" she cried. "Everybody's Magazine."

The Idea.

An attorney was consulted by a woman desirous of bringing action against her husband for a divorce. She related a harrowing tale of the ill treatment she had received at his hands. So impressive was her recital that the lawyer for a moment, according to The New York Times, was startled out of his usual professional composure. "From what you say this man must be a brute of the worst type," he exclaimed. The applicant for divorce arose and, with severe dignity, announced: "Sir, I shall consult another lawyer. I came here to get advice as to a divorce, not to hear my husband abused!"

Bring on the Rats.

One day an Irishman was traveling through a village where there happened to be a saloon. Having no occupation but rat catching he asked had they got any rats in the house. The saloon keeper replied that they had.

"Well, you know, I am a rat charmer," said Pat, "and I will not leave a single rat alive there."

"What is your charge?" said the shopkeeper.

"I suppose a dollar," said Pat, "on you better give me two glasses of Borbhorn and 50 cents will do."

After taking the whisky, Pat took his coat and said:

"Now send the rats out here to me."—Chicago Daily News.

SOUTH RONDOUT.

South Rondout, March 21.—The morning theme was Sacrifice for Service. The text Rom. 12:1, 1. The brethren of Paul. The Jews knew the meaning of the word sacrifice as they were taught that there could be no acceptable religion or worship without sacrifice. When the Jew went to worship he always offered something which would have been valuable to himself if retained, so he gave at sacrifice. 2. Jesus taught that the very essence of the Christian religion was sacrifice but took the advanced ground that the sacrifice was of no value as a matter of privation or pain, hardship or torture in itself but for the service we can render others. 3. Jesus suffered that others might not suffer. He died that others might live. Paul appeals to his brethren, citing Jesus as an example of giving self for service to others, not mere finances. It is much more noble to give ourselves than our possessions for self includes our possessions. The evening sermon theme was Jonah's experience, Jonah 2:9. The outline was: 1. Being lost. 2. Struggle to get free from his terrors. 3. Despair at any recovery—goes into the sea. 4. Being saved. 5. Hope. He was not cut off but miraculously preserved. 6. Faith awakens. He calls upon the God of the Temple. 7. Obedience. He vows then and there to obey. 8. He is tasted by another opportunity. Go to Nineveh. 9. His experience is given in the text, "Salvation is of the Lord," not of self or creed or human might or wisdom.

American Mineral Oil

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Use of Mineral Oil.

Dr. Le Tanneur contributes to the Paris Medical some practical points in the use of mineral oil in constipation. The oil, he says, is in no way digested or even modified by the juices of the stomach and intestines. It acts as a lubricant and nothing else, though it tends to heal abrasions of the intestinal wall caused by rough particles of food. The New York Medical Journal says mineral oil should be taken either before breakfast or after dinner, two tablespoonfuls being a dose. Its use should be continued every day for at least a fortnight, when the bowels will continue to work naturally without it, for the mineral oil is in no sense a cathartic, but it will cure constipation.—Kingston Daily Freeman, February 17, 1917.

CITY TREASURER'S NOTICE.

Special Assessment.

Notice is hereby given that I have received the warrant for the collection of the special assessment of 75 per cent of the expenses incurred in the construction of a sanitary sewer in Andrew street between a point at or about 130 feet from Broadway and the existing sewer at Andrew street at junction of Lavan street, in the City of Kingston.

The same has been left with me for collection at my office in the city hall, in said city; that for thirty days from the date of this notice the said assessment may be paid without additional fees or charges, and that for the twenty succeeding days 2 per centum additional will be collected. If any of the said special assessments shall remain unpaid at the time last mentioned, I shall give a written or printed notice to the person or persons against whom such assessment stands charged, requiring them to pay such unpaid assessment to me at my office within thirty days thereafter, with 5 per centum fees thereon, and one dollar for such notice, as required by the city charter.
 Dated at the Treasurer's Office, City of Kingston, March 10th, 1917.

KEEPING FAITH IS A MAIN ESSENTIAL

Without It, Nations Cannot Stand, declares the Rev. C. G. Ellis in Forceful Sermon on the Foundation of Enduring Civilization.

At the Sunday morning service at the Rondout Presbyterian Church, the Rev. C. G. Ellis, the pastor, preached an eloquent sermon on "Keeping the Faith," whose force and timeliness were such as to cause a number of his congregation to seek wider publicity for it and The Freeman has had an abstract prepared as follows:

2 Timothy 4-7.

"I Have Kept the Faith."
These words were written by Paul to Timothy and are a part of his summing up of his life's work. They suggest three things as regards the faith. First, the faith as a system of doctrine. Paul had received and had formulated a system of doctrine concerning Jesus Christ, His life, His death, His resurrection, and concerning His relationship to human salvation. We might almost say Paul began the formulation of Christian theology. He thought after the manner of his Jewish training and therefore there are those who would go back from Paul to the teachings of the Christ of the gospels for their understanding of the truth concerning Christ. Paul had kept his system of faith as received from Christ and as formulated under the guiding, as he believed, of the Christ spirit.

Second.—The faith. A personal relationship and belief in Jesus. Paul had personally met Jesus, he had promised him obedience and fullest allegiance. He had kept this faith.

Third.—The faith. An obligation to humanity growing out of Paul's relation to Jesus and knowledge of the truth. Paul acknowledged himself debtor to all men, as far as in him lay to preach the gospel to every creature. Paul had kept the faith.

My theme is faith keeping the foundation of civilization. If I ask on what is civilization founded, many answers will be given. One will say that civilization is based upon the awakening of the desire for knowledge and what it entails in the development of the human mind, in culture and science. Another will found civilization in the desire to accumulate property; to have things whether it be arrow heads, sea shells or anything the primitive man may desire. Another will found civilization in the outreaching of some men for power by which they become leaders of tribes and establish government. Others may find the base of civilization in culture or a system of efficiency; another in social instincts. Buckle in his civilization in Europe tells us that civilization could only originate where the ease of securing a food supply gave men an opportunity for leisure to develop arts and government.

However, these things may have their part in civilization, one thing is certain, that civilization can only begin and only continue as men learn to keep faith. When the German Chancellor, in answer to the British ambassador's demand that unless the Germans withdrew from Belgium England would break off diplomatic relations, said, "What! for a word; for a scrap of paper," would England do this thing, destroy the friendship of the two countries that they had labored for years to build, he touched the nerve center of civilization. The obligation of men and nations to keep the faith. Germany, France and England had guaranteed the neutrality of Belgium. Humanity, as it existed in civilization demanded that they keep the faith, for all civilization falls and progress ceases if men and nations consider the record of their solemn agreements but a scrap of paper. Men cannot begin to build in communities without some degree of faith keeping, some morality observed among them. Why make arrows and arrowheads, why hunt game and store provisions if one's neighbor waits to steal one's handiwork. The Esquimaux are accustomed to pick up driftwood along the coast and if one gathers a pile of drift and places a stone upon it any other native who may come along knows that the pile has become a personal possession and he keeps faith.

All property rights depend upon our keeping faith. Your deed is a scrap of paper that is a warranty upon your possession. Its value depends upon the keeping the faith. Mortgages, bonds, your checks at the bank are scraps of paper that depend for value upon men keeping faith. If you marry the minister gives a scrap of paper that signifies that you have bound yourself by most solemn obligations before God and man to keep the faith, and thus the family is based on faith keeping.

The essential requirement for a nation's government is that it keep faith. The legislators, we expect, to keep faith in enacting just laws; laws that will protect moral institutions, as the Sabbath, laws that will enable communities, if they desire, to put out of existence the rum business or any other evil thing. We expect our judges to keep faith in the administration of law, in the punishing of malefactors and in the settling of disputes. We expect our executive officers, our sheriffs, our mayors, our governors, our presidents to keep faith in the execution of the laws to protect the people in their rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. To this end we require that our officials bind themselves on oath to keep the faith.

If there is no faith keeping among the people, government cannot stand. Witness the conditions of Mexico and Central American republics where for generations the people have been under a system of religious training that has not taught them honor and the keeping of the faith. These countries are notorious for false dealing, treachery and graft, and as a consequence a revolution follows revolution. A revolution has just occurred in Russia because the rulers did not keep faith with the people. To keep the faith may mean war. To keep the faith a nation must prosecute grafters. It must arrest and punish criminals. If burglars and hold-up men prey upon the community they must be run down, fought, captured and imprisoned. Now, when a nation repudiates its faith with other nations, when it persistently refuses to be obedient to the international laws that have grown up through centuries of civilization, the other nations of the earth, in order to keep faith with their own people, to keep faith one with another, will be compelled to take up arms to deal with the offender. Our Saviour commanded us to turn the other cheek. He also said to those who would take our coat to give our cloak also, but He did not command nations or men to give up civilization, or morality, or faith keeping at the command of any man or set of men.

The idea of keeping the faith indicates a general moral obligation. Not America above all, but humanity above all; right above all. The nation that tries to be over all will soon be under all. Do you ask why the red-men of America northwest, the black men of Africa, the yellow and brown men of Asia, and the natives of the islands of the sea are uniting against the government of Germany? Why we may be compelled to go to war? It is because of the assault of that government upon the rights of humanity, because of the profound conviction that the nations of the world must protect the scrap of paper, and must keep the faith, that the underlying principles of civilization are at stake.

We sometimes hear men of intelligence say, "My country right or wrong." Never! I am for my country if she is right; if wrong, it is my duty to help set her right. If there is any nation anywhere where men do not have the right of protest, where they cannot lawfully resist abuses, or criticize the action of officials, that government does not keep faith with humanity or its own citizens and ought not to continue.

To keep the faith indicates then a general moral obligation, a solidarity of humanity. We expect men everywhere to keep the faith. The workers upon our railways; the members of great unions may not make war upon civilization for individual or personal gain. Those engaged upon common carriers by their employment are responsible for the feeding of the nation, when they accepted such employment they accepted a responsibility to the nation. We expect all men in places of business, trust, all trustees, all directors to keep the faith in administering their institutions, not to cut meadows for their own profit, but to see that the humblest shareholder has his just returns. The men or set of men who seek to corner wheat or foodstuffs or any necessity that they may make profit, fails to keep faith with their fellows. It is the duty of the Christian above all others to keep the faith. To keep faith in his dealings with men and to help men to see their responsibility to keep the faith.

BONTICOU.

Bonticou, March 21.—On Friday evening, March 16, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schaff were given a delightful surprise party at their home in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary. A Humphrey entertained by giving some fine jigging, to which John Ackert and Wendell Fradenburg furnished the music. Games were played until midnight, when the guests enjoyed refreshments. Among those present were the Rev. Joseph Millett, Mrs. Millett and little Miss Ruth, Mrs. B. Dunn and

Miss Mabel L. Van Nostrand and Miss Elsie, Mr. and Mrs. H. Frers, Miss Frieda and Master Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Davis, E. Davis and Miss Lillian Shepstone, Mr. Ferguson and Master John, Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Miss Mary, W. Dupraw, Jesse Van Kleek and the Misses Mabel and Jennie, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Geary, Mr. Arthur, Misses Lillian and Marion and Master Kenneth, Mrs. Irving Van Vleet, Miss Corel Embree, Amos Humphrey, Charles Kopfmann and Miss K. Dunn, Mr. Jack and Miss M. Avery, Wendell Fradenburg and Mr. and Mrs. John Ackert. The guests departed early in the morning, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Schaff many more anniversaries enjoyed in prosperity and happiness. Mr. and Mrs. George Steinhilber of Walden are spending some time at the Ferguson home. Mrs. Irving Van Vleet with her daughters, Corel and Julia, are visiting at Mrs. Embree's home. Oscar Schaff, who has been confined to bed for a few days, is able to be out again. Bonticouans are glad to see the jitney running between Kingston and New Paltz again. There will be services at the Dashville Reformed Church on Sunday. Miss Spring Finds City Quiet. When Miss Spring came to Kingston shortly after 11 o'clock Tuesday evening to spend some time in our busy midst she found things unusually quiet in police circles, and as a result no cases were brought to the attention of Recorder Lang this morning.

LANDLORDS ARE GETTING TOGETHER

Protective Association Being Organized to Protect Landlords from Tenants Who Pay no Rent in Winter and Move in Summer.

A Landlords' Protective Association is being organized in Kingston to protect the landlord from the tenant who pays no rent in the winter and then moves in the summer to another location. It has been the custom of many landlords to allow the tenants to "hang up" the rent during the winter months when some tenants find it difficult to make ends meet, but it has been found that some tenants instead of feeling thankful to the landlord for his consideration move at the first opportunity when weather conditions permit—and sometimes when it don't. It has also been found that some tenants when they find the coal bin running low tear out the shelving in closets and use it for firewood, and also use whatever woodwork they can find for the same purpose. The idea of the new association is for the landlords to meet every so often and compare notes, and in that way tabs may be kept on undesirable tenants.

PAGEANT MOST PICTURESQUE.

Albany Avenue Baptist Church Scene of Interesting Event.

The "Pageant of Nations," given by some eighty young people at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church Friday evening was a great success, and was very picturesque. The entertainment was in the nature of a missionary presentation. Miss Lucy Merrill, the organist, after an organ prelude played "Onward Christian Soldiers," as a vested choir of young women, under the leadership of Mrs. Aeneath Hayes, solo soprano of the church, marched to their places in the organ loft singing as they went. They were preceded by Adjutant Scott of the Salvation Army whose cornet playing added much to the effectiveness of the performance. Miss Ethel Hall, then told the story of the "King's Highway," or the "Pageant of Nations," which were receiving the light of Christianity. This was followed by a procession of Egyptian women, clad in robes of black, with heavy white veils bound close to the head with jeweled bands. Miss Rebecca Benson, Miss Olive Shurtler and Miss Viola Freer told of the missionary educational work being carried on among the women of Egypt. Next came a high caste Indian woman (Mrs. Haines) charmingly dressed in oriental fashion, and with her, ten child widows in gowns and veils of white. Mrs. Haines told of the child wives and widows in India, and their only hope in Christianity, while Arletta Lowe, one of the child widows told of the joy with which the Christian schools for girls were heralded. The Burmese women in gay colored dress with long scarfs, were represented by Mrs. ... who told of the splendid work of the missionaries in their land. The young Korean women, in their pretty costumes with short kimonos, were led by Miss Lucinda Birch, and had with them two college graduates—the Misses Lulu Van Steenburgh and Edna Markle—from the first college for women, who told of their educational work among their less fortunate sisters. The Chinese girls were fascinating in their pretty pajama costumes with tails made of gay Chinese lanterns. They were led by their missionary teacher (Mrs. Moulton), and while she served tea to all, squatting on the floor in true oriental fashion, the Misses Elizabeth Humphrey, Dorothy Moulton, Blanch Avery and Florence Rappleyez told of the good that Christian education was bringing to the girls of the Kingdom. One of the prettiest groups was that of the Japanese Kindergarten of some twelve little tots, in gay kimonos, carrying big chrysanthemums, and led by Mrs. Raynor. While each little girl had some part in the story of missions in Japan, Mary Collin and Helen Strickland were the chief trackers. After telling their story the little girls gave an exceedingly pretty drill.

The final appearance of all the nations was very effective with Miss Lillian Healey as America. Miss Healey, a color bearer, a group of flag draped little girls and another group of Boy Scouts leading the procession. All were artistically assembled on the platform and the entire audience joined them in singing "America." Throughout there was much appropriate music by the choir, and both choir and performers were given many hearty compliments for the excellence of the entertainment which was witnessed by a church full of people.

Had Courage of His Convictions.

Francis Bacon, who was born in London January 22, 1560, had an aversion for duelling, a practice prevalent in England in his day, observes a writer in the Washington Post. He lived from 1560 to 1626. The great essayist made an address against duelling, in star chamber session in proceedings against two men—one for writing and sending a challenge, the other for delivering it. Bacon was then king's attorney general.

Wealth in Alaskan Waters.

Nearly all Alaskan waters teem with herring, whose value as a food fish is just beginning to be recognized in those parts. Important in Alaskan fisheries is the whaling industry. The species of whale most common are the hump-back, fin-back, sulphur-bottom and sperm. The sperm whale is plentiful about Resurrection bay and Cook inlet waters. A good-sized sperm whale is worth about $3,000. The great Alaska salmon industry is the most important industry in Alaska next to mining.

Novel Use of Handkerchiefs.

With the Jacobite revolution of 1745 in England Pelham, bethinking himself of an old device which had served the government so well in the most critical period of Anne's reign, caused to be printed on several thousand handkerchiefs portraits of those of the young pretender's adherents who had escaped and were in hiding. These portraits, sent all over the country and hung upon every black wall, led to the capture and execution of many fugitives.

CZAR AND CZARINA ARE UNDER ARREST

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, March 21.—Nicholas, former Czar of Russia, and his wife, the former Czarina, have both been arrested on orders of the new Russian provisional government, says a press despatch from Petrograd today.

Both the former ruler and his wife are now under guard of revolutionary troops at Tsarskoe-Selo palace, it was said.

The latest account of the Czarina was that she was ill at Tsarskoe-Selo palace. The Czar was reported forty-eight hours ago to be on his way to his private estates in Livadia, Crimea, although his exact whereabouts was but vaguely mentioned.

SOCIETY NOTES.

A farewell party was held at the home of Loretta McMahon, No. 8 Clinton avenue, in honor of Gertrude Doyle, who will depart from her many friends in this city to make her home hereafter in Rhode Island. Refreshments were served to all. Those present were Marion Miller, Hanna Finn, Catherine Larkin, Mary and Martha Flannery, Marion Donnelly, Helen Van Etten, Loretta McMahon, Helen Duffy, Catherine Sheppard, Cecilia Mooney, Gertrude Doyle, Mary Balestrieri and Gertrude Dermody.

Virgil Kelley was tendered a pleasant surprise by a large number of friends at his home, No. 37 Hudson street, on Tuesday evening. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Cobb, Mrs. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. W. Tomburgher, Mr. and Mrs. John Peyer, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Buddington, Mr. and Mrs. Zolmar and members of Mr. Kelley's family. Games were enjoyed and refreshments were served. The gathering dispersed for their homes at a late hour, voting Mr. Kelley a most congenial host, as well as being a royal entertainer.

A delightful variety shower was given on Tuesday night to Miss Amanda J. Hahn, whose marriage to Fred H. Busse, Jr., of Rochester, N. Y., will take place in the near future. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many useful and thoughtful gifts. Those present were the Misses Emma and Helen Zable, Minnie and Christina Schlegel, Rose Hahn, Laurella and Matilda Hahn, Emma and Lena Wolf, Amelia Schumann, Louise Studt, Lottie Wiedemann, Dorothy Demgen and Esther Kellermann. A delicious luncheon was served, after which the party left for their homes, wishing Miss Hahn many happy years of wedded life.

Mrs. A. M. Kirchner, manager of the Kirchner Home for obstetrical cases, has set aside Tuesday afternoon of every week, which is to be known as Mother's Day. This week's meeting was attended by the mothers of 1914, who were patients at the home, and the mothers of the succeeding years will be entertained on different occasions. The mothers were urged to read Mrs. Max West's book on Infant Care and in this way Mrs. Kirchner hopes to help her former patients. Those present were Mrs. James R. Rowe, Mrs. Harry Snyder, Mrs. C. A. Thomas, Mrs. J. E. Van Derveer, Mrs. M. E. Crosby, Mrs. G. B. Mains.

Reception to New Pastor.

The officers of the First Presbyterian Church will tender a reception to the new pastor, the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady, in the church this evening at 8 o'clock to which all members of the congregation are invited.

Daughters of Isabella Choir.

All members of the Daughters of Isabella are reminded of the special meeting to be held at Pythian Hall on Thursday, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. At this meeting Mrs. Leary will conduct the first choir rehearsal, and all wishing to join the choir should endeavor to be present. Members are also asked to bring with them their subscription money for the magazine.

Olympian Club.

The Olympian Club met with Miss Decker this week. Miss Saulpaugh had the paper for the day, her topic being "Uncommon Resources. Used to Make Common Things." The paper proved to be both interesting and exceedingly instructive. A reading was given by Miss McCullough, "Tennessee's Partner," by Bret Hart. The next meeting of the club will be held on April 9, at the home of Miss Lila Smith.

Entertains W. A. G. Club.

Mrs. Harold L. Van Deusen entertained the W. A. G. Club at dinner this afternoon at her home, No. 304 East Union street, and an appetizing menu was served. The table decorations were yellow and white, and the favors were daffodils. Following dinner a musical program was given, and the club held a most delightful session. The club will hold its next regular meeting at the residence of Mrs. Harold Freidell on Clifton avenue. Among those present this afternoon were Mrs. Robert J. Black, Mrs. Ralph B. Deyo, Mrs. Frederick Rich, Jr., and Mrs. Harold Freidell.

Lowell Club.

Mrs. Martin entertained the Lowell Club this week. Following the roll call of "Noted Scotch Divines," Mrs. Cole had a remarkably comprehensive and entertaining paper on "The Church in Scotland." This was followed by a reading from Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," given by Mrs. Basien, and by another reading from "Little Minister," given by Mrs. Moulton. Announcement was made on the coming Freund lecture and reception to be given by the Federation of Women's Clubs on the afternoon of Thursday, March 29. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Schoonmaker.

A Pleasant Gathering.

An informal gathering was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Topp on Friday evening. During the evening the guests were entertained by selections on the piano by the Misses Amanda Luedtke and Dorothy Demgen. At 10 o'clock an elaborate repast was served by the hostess, covers being laid for 15 amid a color scheme of red and white. Those who had the pleasure of being present were: Mrs. Charles Kompe, Mrs. William Hasselmann, Mrs. Louis Kellermann, Mrs. John Krueger, Mrs. H. M. Demgen, Mrs. F. T. Schroeder, Mrs. John Wendland, Mrs. A. Walker, Mrs. Fred Sahloff, Mrs. Albert Topp, Mrs. William Davis, Miss Amanda Luedtke, Miss Esther Kellermann, Miss Dorothy Demgen. All departed at a late hour, voting the hostess a royal entertainer.

Ulster Garden Club.

The Ulster Garden Club held its first spring meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck. There was a large and an enthusiastic attendance. The president, Mrs. Francis J. Higginson, presided, and introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Verplank of Fishkill. Mrs. Verplank spoke on "Spring Planting and Plant Diseases," and as she is especially practical in her plant talks, and very lucid in all of her remarks, much profit and pleasure was gained from this timely address. Arrangements were begun for a "Flower Market" to be held on the grounds of the high school on June 22. This will be for the purpose of raising sufficient funds with which to carry on the school garden work so successfully instituted and brought to fruition by this organization during the past two years. Owing to present economic conditions, the school children will be urged to plant vegetable gardens, that they may have products for home consumption. This flower market promises to be a unique, pleasing and profitable affair. The next meeting of the Garden Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Finch on Pearl street.

Puzzled Youngster.

Our grocery man's delivery boy is always accompanied on Saturday by his younger brother who in looks is exactly like his older brother. The younger one always brought on our groceries, but one Saturday he was out of town and the oldest boy had to come in. Five-year-old Marian looked for a few seconds at him with a puzzled face and then exclaimed: "Say, did you growed up?"—Chicago Tribune.

Help To Protect Your Service

YOU can help to protect your telephone in many ways that will not be burdensome, but which will be of real benefit to your service. For example:

You can be careful of the telephone apparatus—a wet umbrella leaned against a telephone cord can put a line out of commission.

You can be sure that your desk telephone is in a position from which it cannot fall to the floor and become damaged.

You can try to prevent a receiver from being dropped or banged against the receiver hook.

Any damage to the instrument or telephone lines may impair your service.

Help to keep up the standard of telephone service by doing your share in protecting the telephone or wires against damage.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.—STATE OF NEW YORK, office of the state commission of highways, Albany, N. Y.—Pursuant to the provisions of chapter 30, laws of 1909, as amended by chapter 649, laws of 1911, and chapter 50, laws of 1913, sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned at their office, No. 55 Lancaster street, Albany, N. Y., at one o'clock p. m. on Monday, the 9th day of April, 1917, for the repair of the following highways:

Rep. Con. No.	Class of Work.	Road No.	Name.
1008	2nd Bit. Mac. Road construction.	331	Post. Part I.
1009	2nd and 3rd Bit. Mac. Resurfacing.	6178	Kingston-Huiler.

Maps, plans, specifications and estimates may be seen and proposal forms obtained at the office of the commission in Albany, N. Y., and also at the office of Division Engineer E. H. Smith, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. (Columbia Institute, 11 Washington street).

The special attention of bidders is called to "GENERAL INFORMATION FOR BIDDERS" in the itemized proposal, specifications and contract agreement. Proposals for each road or contract must be presented in a separate sealed envelope, endorsed on the outside with the name and number of the road or contract for which the proposal is made. Each proposal must be accompanied by cash or a certified check payable to the order of the State Commission of Highways for an amount equal to at least five per cent of the amount of the proposal which such cash or check accompanies.

This cash or check will be held by the commission until the contract and bond are duly executed. The successful bidder will be required to give a performance bond for fifty per cent of the contract, and a maintenance bond covering the wearing surface of all roads except waterbound macadam and cement concrete pavements for twenty per cent of the contract price of the items which comprise the wearing surface, such bonds to be executed by a surety company to be approved by the commission or a bond secured by the deposit of collateral securities to be approved by the commission.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

EDWIN DUFFEY, Commissioner.

I. J. MORRIS, Secretary.

RUSSIA FREES MANY PRISONERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Petrograd, March 21.—The provisional government has granted general amnesty to all political prisoners. Announcement to this effect was made today. Thousands of political prisoners are thus released.

A manifesto has been issued by the new Russian government affirming the Constitution of Finland. The Finnish Diet has been summoned to meet. These are regarded as the first steps towards Finnish autonomy.

The clergy of the Orthodox Russian Church at Kiev has formally recognized the new government.

The Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, former German nobleman, who became a Russian subject before the war began, has been imprisoned.

Other notables arrested by the police of the provisional government include General Baron Fredericks, former minister of court to ex-Czar Nicholas; Governor-general Gondatti of the Siberian province of Amur; and General Nestchenko, commander of the troops in Amur province.

During an address to a crowd of Socialists, workmen and radicals who were clamoring for the lives of the members of the old ministry, Minister of Justice Kerenski said:

"Russian freedom is based on justice to all. Those ministers in prison are entitled to justice and not vengeance. No wrong shall be done to them if I can help it. This government is not to be based on blood."

Great field headquarters of the Russian army is said to have received the news of the czar's abdication with shouts of acclamation.

Grand Duke Nicholas is said to be on the western front.

As you peacefully crunch that golded-brown, buttered-hot slice of morning toast, think what a great invention toasting is anyway. Is there any flavor like it (Cries of "No!" "No!")

We've added a new discovery to this fine old invention, to produce the Lucky Strike cigarette. We went right back to the toasting fork and the kitchen stove for the idea—after five years of experiment.

The tobacco—it's toasted

You see, we wanted to make a Burley cigarette. Because we know that smokers were awfully fond of Burley—and it certainly is "blame good tobacco"—60 million pounds poured out of those green, blue and red tins last year. That's enough for 35 billion Burley cigarettes.

Lucky Strike, the real Burley cigarette

But until we struck this toasting idea a Burley cigarette couldn't be made; flavor wouldn't hold. But now! That Burley flavor stays right with Lucky Strike—the real Burley cigarette. Because the tobacco—it's toasted.

Re-establishing A Family

By F. A. MITCHEL.

Herman von Bishoff came to America a young man, determined to make a fortune, return with it to Germany and build up his family, which was an old one, though impoverished. Von Bishoff chose a valuable field for money making in America. He became a brewer and by the time he was fifty years old was in a position to retire from business with the fortune he had come over for. But a business life had accustomed him to active habits, and he did not relish going back to Germany to a life of idleness. Besides, the pan-European war had come on, and he thought he could be of more service to the Fatherland by sending money for hospital service.

Von Bishoff had no son, but he had a daughter, Hilda, about twenty years old. It had been his intention to send for his nephew, the son of his older brother, to come over to America with the hope of making a match between this young man and Hilda. His fortune would ultimately pass to Hilda and through her and her husband the former influential status of the Von Bishoffs would be re-established. But the war came on, and of course Carl von Bishoff was needed in the army, and on this account the plan was delayed if not altogether extinguished.

Hilda von Bishoff's associates were native Americans, and she had not that love for Germany that had remained in her father. When the war broke out she told him that she wished to go abroad to do Red Cross work, and he only consented on her promise to devote herself to the care of sick and wounded soldiers in Germany. But Hilda, though she had learned the German language in her childhood, had forgotten it, and she did not relish the idea of going among a people whose language she did not understand. Her father would not consent to her going to any other country.

Hilda had been given plenty of pin money and, not having spent it all, had something in bank. One day she left for Europe without saying anything to her father as to her going, and on her arrival at the seat of war was enrolled in the American Red Cross service. She found that the sick and wounded consisted of all kinds. There were English, French, Belgians, Germans, Austrians and citizens of the United States to be cared for, and all received the same attention. Of course the enemy sick and wounded as soon as they recovered were considered prisoners and placed in concentration camp, while the French, English and Americans were returned to duty.

Hilda remained at her post of duty a year, when, her health giving out, she returned to America. Some of her friends suspected while nursing a soldier she had lost her heart to him, but Hilda would not admit it. Her father got hold of the rumor, and it worried him very much, for he had not given up re-establishing his family in Germany through her. He questioned her as to the matter, but got nothing out of her. Indeed, she denied the story.

However, Von Bishoff's plan for building up his family by marrying his daughter to her cousin Carl was dashed because news came to his uncle that he had been killed in the war.

One day a young man who gave his name as Flegler appeared at Herman Bishoff's residence and asked for Hilda. He was the soldier that she had nursed as a prisoner. He had been sent to England as a prisoner of war and had escaped. He had then got transportation to America by securing a berth as fireman on a ship about to sail for New York. His object was to get back to Germany by way of the United States.

The first thing Von Bishoff knew about the stranger's coming was information from his daughter that she had given her troth to the fugitive and desired her father's sanction to the match. She and her lover planned to be married before his return to the army. Von Bishoff, realizing by this time that his daughter would have her own way in the choice of a husband, gave a forced consent. The couple were married, and a few days later the groom sailed for Holland, from which country he expected to cross the line into Germany.

Six months after his departure his wife received word from him that he had succeeded in what he had undertaken and was again in the ranks fighting for the fatherland. Then came a letter stating that he was at home badly wounded.

Hilda, now Frau Flegler, determined to join him. Her father, finding that she was resolved on doing so, determined to go with her. They went by way of Copenhagen and in due time arrived at the village from which Herman Bishoff had departed thirty years before for America. The Schloss, a dilapidated residence that had once been a noble pile, was still in possession of the family, and there they went. It was occupied by a sister of Von Bishoff, whom he had not taken account of since his departure for America, for he especially valued only the male members of the family. The father and daughter were to put up here until they could learn of the whereabouts of her husband.

"I have a son who is at home recovering from wounds," said the frau. "Indeed!" replied her brother. "Let us pay our respects to him at once." They fled into the room where the young man lay. Hilda gave a spring for him. He was her husband.

Quiet Dangers.

An analysis of the contents of a vacuum cleaner made recently showed that the dust which had collected on the bookshelves in a library consisted of "hair, green wool, pieces of finger nails, fly wings, sand grains, wood, paper, string, metallic iron and leather. The hair was probably derived from soft hats, the wool and cotton fibers from clothing, sand from the mud tracked in on shoes and the gradual pulverizing of the floor, fly wings from dead flies and paper from book leaves."

Curiously enough, very few germs were found in this dust. Yet there is no question that inhaling it might lead to various diseased conditions. This would not be the result of any disease germs contained in the dust itself, but to the irritating effects produced by the dust particles when brought into contact with the bronchial membranes. Thus it is evident that even germ free dust may be harmful when inhaled.—Los Angeles Times.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MARCH 21, 1917.

According to Albany reports, the Federal engineers are credited with approving the Deeper-Hudson project as work for the Federal Government. It is about time. The river traffic and the possibilities of waterway transportation from the Great Lakes to the port of New York are becoming apparent with the prospective completion of the barge canal. The need for the deepening of the Hudson and the propriety of a Congressional appropriation therefor are plain and require no argument. According to the engineers in charge, it will be necessary for the State to co-operate in such project by assisting in providing suitable terminal facilities, a matter already taken in hand by State Engineer Williams. Terminal facilities are essential to the enjoyment of the extended waterway system by the cities of the Hudson Valley and in this respect at least, Kingston is a step ahead of other municipalities and of the Federal Government program. It is to be hoped that the State Engineer's office will soon give out the data on the local development, as the importance of Rondout shipping is such as to justify early activities on actual construction, once the Legislature makes the necessary appropriation.

According to the calendar, Spring made her appearance today and the atmosphere is for once in happy harmony with the date. The ice has also made its exit from the river below Kingston Point, the departure being aided by the initial trip of the Benjamin B. Odell north of Poughkeepsie this season. Altogether, with fair weather marking the journey of the sun across the line, it may be fair to assume there will be some delightful days in immediate prospect. Of course, there being a majority of cloudy days through the year, the old-time weather prophets used to play it safe and make their estimates accordingly, like those seers among the ancients who, knowing that ill fortune was the common experience of humankind, used to predict calamities of all sorts and usually "got away with it," as every special occasion would be marked with some untoward happening or other. In these days, when the unexpected is constantly happening, it is just as easy to prophesy fair weather for a change. There is a mental stimulus attached to looking forward to something beside war and other troubles that is most valuable.

A New York manufacturer, who recently died, directed in his will that "all signs and symbols of mourning be dispensed with" by his family, and that $250 be expended on a dinner or banquet for his relatives and friends at which "they should spend a cheerful evening in their recollection of him." A dinner for a limited number costing $250 would make a cheerful evening even in a "boudoir" state, which New York is not. Doubtless the deceased was aware of this and he wanted his family to be refreshed with smiles and bright array instead of being further depressed by long faces and the gloomy habiliments of mourning. Perhaps also he regarded the latter as both inappropriate and inconsistent among those who profess as an article of faith a belief in a happy future state for the souls of all who have lived worthy lives in the body. In any case, though the slaves of fashion may call him an eccentric, the philosopher must regard him as a very considerable and sensible man.

If it is true that there are only 199 competent aviators in the United States, the president of the Aero Club of New England has done well to call for the enactment of a law to forbid "looming the loop," vertical diving and other feats as unnecessary as they are hazardous, which aviators vaingloriously indulge in. In the event of war more than 199 competent aviators will be needed in the Government service, and to check needless daring and thus to preserve many of their lives is highly desirable. This is by no means an unimportant matter, for experience and observation unite in pointing toward the conclusion that the daring loop of loops must sooner or later meet his death.

American headlines based on London dispatches have stated that the Allies are "driving the beaten enemy out of France." As wireless from Berlin also admits that the British and French have "occupied several towns" in "a strip of land systematically abandoned by us," it is safe to conclude that at the point indicated the Allies have undoubtedly advanced and the Germans retreated. But future events alone can show how important the results of these developments may be.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

She—"I don't believe any man can have a real attachment for any one but himself." He—"Oh, yes, a sheriff can."—Baltimore American.

Cholly—"I made a perfect fool of myself today." Miss Keen—"There! I always said you could make something of yourself if you kept on trying."—Boston Transcript.

Wife—"George, I don't believe you have smoked one of those cigars I gave you on your birthday." George—"No, my dear. I am going to keep them until our Willie wants to learn to smoke."—Puck.

"Our new cook says she has worked for some of the best people in town." "You must have misunderstood her." "Why so?" "I'm sure she meant that she had worked some of the best people in town."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"You never say anything about the American eagle in your speeches." "No," replied Senator Sorghum, "My people out home get tired of that style of oratory. They want to hear me say that they weren't hanging me in Washington to spend time in ornithology."—Washington Star.

An Eye to Business.
A party bent on "seeing London" rolled out of Hyde Park in a big automobile and listened with undisguised interest to the guide's explanation of the various places of interest. Presently they passed an ancient edifice surrounded by a high brick wall. "That is the town house of the Duke of Deva, one of our largest landed proprietors," said the guide.

The eyes of the beautiful young American girl on the rear seat were suddenly illuminated.
"Who landed him?" she cried.
Everybody's Magazine.

The Idea.
An attorney was consulted by a woman desirous of bringing action against her husband for a divorce. She related a harrowing tale of ill treatment she had received at his hands. So impressive was her recital that the lawyer for a moment, according to The New York Times, was startled out of his usual professional composure. "From what you say this man must be a brute of the worst type!" he exclaimed. The applicant for divorce arose and, with severe dignity, announced: "Sir, I shall consult another lawyer. I came here to get advice as to a divorce, not to hear my husband abused!"

Bring on the Hats.
One day an Irishman was traveling through a village where there happened to be a saloon. Having no occupation but rat catching he asked that they get any rats in the house. The saloon keeper replied that they had.

"Well, you know, I am a rat catcher," said Pat, "and I will not leave a single rat alive there."
"What is your charge?" said the saloonkeeper.
"I suppose a dollar," said Pat, "or you better give me two glasses of bourbon and 50 cents will do."

After taking the whisky, Pat took his coat and said:
"Now send the rats out here to me."—Chicago Daily News.

SOUTH RONDOUT.

South Rondout, March 21.—The morning theme was Sacrifice for Service. The text: Rom. 12:1, 1. The children of Paul. The Jews knew the meaning of the word sacrifice as they were taught that there could be no acceptable religion or worship without sacrifice. When the Jew went to worship he always offered something which would have been valuable to himself if retained. So he gave at sacrifice. Jesus taught that the very essence of the Christian religion was sacrifice but the sacrifice was of no value as a matter of privilege or gain, hardship or torture in itself but for the service we can render others. Jesus suffered that others might not suffer. He died that others might live. Paul appeals to his brethren, (Eph. Jesus as an example of giving self for service to others, not mere finances. It is much more noble to give ourselves than our possessions. The evening sermon theme was Jonah's experience. Jonah 2:9. The outline was: 1. Being lost. 2. Guilt caused by rebellion. 3. Struggle to get free from his torments. 4. Despair at any recovery—goes into the sea. 5. Belief saved. 6. Hope. He was not cut off but miraculously preserved. 7. Faith awakens. He calls upon the God of the Temple. 8. Obedience. He vows then and there to obey. 9. He is tested by another opportunity. Go to Nineveh. 10. His experience is given in the text. "Salvation is of the Lord," not of self or creed or human might or wisdom.

Marvelous Banyan Tree.

The giant banyan under which Alexander is said to have camped with 1,000 men, now measures nearly 1,000 feet across the head, contains about 300 trunks and forms a dense canopy through which the sunshine never penetrates. Several other species also propagate in like manner.

Use of Mineral Oil.

Dr. Le Tanneur contributes to the Paris Medical some practical points in the use of mineral oil in constipation. The oil, he says, is in no way digested or even modified by the juices of the stomach and intestines. It acts as a lubricant and nothing else, though it tends to heal abrasions of the intestinal wall caused by rough particles of food.

The New York Medical Journal says mineral oil should be taken either before breakfast or after dinner, two tablespoonfuls being a dose. Its use should be continued every day for at least a fortnight, when the bowels will continue to work naturally without it, for the mineral oil is in no sense a cathartic, but it will cure constipation.—Kingston Daily Freeman, February 17, 1917.

Bookhout at the Methodist parsonage, and are now visiting friends at Kyserke for a few days. The Rev. K. M. Reynolds occupied the pulpit in the Methodist Church Sunday morning and delivered an excellent sermon.

The annual conference supper, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Church, will be held Tuesday, March 27. A roast beef supper will be served for nominal sum.

Mrs. Ralph Atkins of Broadway went Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. William Schoonmaker, in Kingston.

Good Way to Test Diamonds

Suspected diamonds are frequently tested by placing them between two coins and pressed hard with the fingers. It is said to be impossible to make the smallest impression on a real diamond, but, in the case of a paste article, the edges may be crushed. The effect can be discerned by a critical examination with a lens.

MISS SPRING AND PINOCHLE EXPERTS

Today was the First that Miss Spring Registered in Kingston, and Pinochle Experts are Happy—Add Vim.

While it may be hard to explain, yet it is an undoubted fact that pinochle playing and spring weather mix agreeably, especially after a long hard winter as that just past, and for that reason the experts taking part in the Odd Fellows' Pinochle League are feeling duly happy from the fact that Miss Spring registered in Kingston today for an extended visit as it is expected to add vim to their playing during the closing days of the pinochle season in Kingston.

This evening Aretas experts will endeavor to show the Port Ewen cranks how to play the game at the Kosciusko Lodge rooms, and an effort will be made by the men under Captain Bush to knock a few games on the lead of Clay Lodge who to date are leading the league by five games over their nearest competitors. The mere fact that the Clay players are leading Aretas' team by five games is not deterring Captain Bush from still clinging to his opinion that he has the better players, but they have been playing in harder luck. Captain Port of Clay Lodge states it is merely skill that has kept his team in the lead. Today no bulletins were forthcoming from the quarters of Judge McKenzie of Port Ewen or Captain Ray Whitbeck of Kosciusko. The league standing to date follows:

	W.	L.
Clay Lodge	40	29
Aretas Lodge	35	28
Kosciusko Lodge	33	33

(United States Senator Norris)

Washington, March 21.—United States Senator George W. Norris, one of the twelve senators who made it impossible to pass the Armed Neutrality bill last Congress, has asked Governor Keith Neville, of Nebraska, to urge the Legislature now in session to pass a law that will enable him to have his course in opposing the president's request for power to arm United States merchant ships passed upon by his constituents.

"I have no desire," said Mr. Norris in a letter to Governor Neville, "to represent the people of Nebraska in the United States Senate or elsewhere if my official conduct is contrary to their wishes, and if I am misrepresenting them the remedy is a recall."

Port Chaplain's Lecture Tonight.

The people of Kingston will, this evening, have the opportunity of hearing of the work and experiences of a port chaplain at Ellis Island, when the Rev. Elliot White will deliver the second of the Post Jubilee lectures at the Fair Street Reformed Church. To give one an idea of the variety of experiences encountered by Mr. White in this merciful work, so little known about, it might be stated, that in a few days the port chaplain was able to aid a lad sent from Seattle, Washington, for deportation to Ireland, to secure a position on a steamer bound for France; to help a Venezuelan "stow-away" who proved to have been an engineer, second mate, etc., and with a record for "good character and conduct" and who had been consigned to the "excluded list," to sail on a ship for Savannah, with pay; to assist a young English woman and her party consisting of four children, "an intended sister-in-law," and friends bound for California, to reach their destinations within a comparatively short time, in spite of what, without the chaplain's help would have proven insurmountable obstacles of missing affidavits, etc. These are a few incidents picked at random. Mr. White should be himself heard, for one to have any real idea of the Christian service rendered to the "stranger," who comes to our port at Ellis Island.

Bonds With Electric Signs.

Without It, Nations Cannot Stand,
 Declares the Rev. C. G. Ellis in Forceful Sermon on the Foundation of Enduring Civilization.

At the Sunday morning service at the Rondout Presbyterian Church,
 the Rev. C. G. Ellis, the pastor, preached an eloquent sermon on "Keeping the Faith," whose force and timeliness were such as to cause a number of his congregation to seek wider publicity for it and The Freeman has had an abstract prepared as follows:

2 Timothy 4-7.

"I Have Kept the Faith."

These words were written by Paul to Timothy and are a part of his summing up of his life's work. They suggest three things as regards the faith. First, the faith as a system of doctrine. Paul had received and had formulated a system of doctrine concerning Jesus Christ, His life, His death His resurrection, and concerning His relationship to human salvation. We might almost say Paul began the formulation of Christian theology. He thought after the manner of his Jewish training and therefore there are those who would go back from Paul to the teachings of the Christ of the gospels for their understanding of the truth concerning Christ. Paul had kept his system of faith as received from Christ and as formulated under the guiding, as he believed, of the Christ spirit.

Second—The faith. A personal relationship and belief in Jesus. Paul had personally met Jesus, he had promised him obedience and fullest allegiance. He had kept this faith.

Third. The faith. An obligation to humanity growing out of Paul's relation to Jesus and knowledge of the truth. Paul acknowledged himself debtor to all men, as far as in him lay to preach the gospel to every creature. Paul had kept the faith.

My theme is faith keeping the foundation of civilization. If I ask you what is civilization founded on, many answers will be given. One will say that civilization is based on the accumulation of the desire for knowledge and what it entails in the development of the human mind, in culture and science. Another will found civilization in the desire to accumulate property; to have things whether it be arrow heads, sea shells or anything the primitive man may desire. Another will found civilization in the outreaching of some men for power, by which they become leaders of tribes and establish government. Others may find the base of civilization in culture or a system of emotions, such as the social instincts. But, in whichever civilization you are thinking that civilization could originate where the ease of securing food supply gave men an opportunity for leisure to develop arts and government.

However, these things may have their part in civilization, "one thing is certain, that civilization can only be kept and only continue as men learn to keep faith. When the German Ambassador, in answer to the British Ambassador's question about the Germans withdrawing from Belgium and England would break off diplomatic relations, said, "What! for a word; a word of paper," would England, to this thing, desert its friends? One of the two countries that they had labored for years to build, he touched the nerve center of civilization. The religion of men and nations to keep the faith. Germany, France and England had guaranteed the neutrality of Belgium. Humanity, as a whole in civilization demanded that they keep the faith, for all civilizations and progress ceases if all nations consider the record of their solemn agreements but a word of paper. Men cannot begin to keep faith in communities without some degree of faith keeping, some morality to be observed among them. Why make a nation of thieves and robbers and gamblers and store provisions if one's neighbor waits to steal one's handiwork? The Esquimaux are accustomed to pick up driftwood along the coast and if one gathers a pile of drift and places a stone upon it any other nation who may come along knows that the pile has become a personal possession and he keeps faith.

all property rights depend upon a keeping faith. Your deed is a map of paper that is a warranty upon possession. Its value depends upon the keeping the faith. Mortgages, bonds, your clerks at the law, the seals of paper that depend for value upon men keeping faith.
If you make the untruthful give a map of paper that signifies that you have bound your self by just solemn obligations before God and man to keep the faith, and thus the family to be led in to keeping.

The moral requirement for a nation government is that it keep faith. The legislators are exact, to keep faith in enacting just laws; laws that will protect moral institutions.
The Sabbath laws that will enable communities, if they desire, to put out of existence the rum business or any other evil thing. We expect our magistrates to keep faith in the administration of law, in the punishing of offenders and in the settling of disputes. We expect our executive officers, our sheriffs, our mayors, our governors, our presidents to keep faith in the execution of the laws to protect the people in their rights of free moral action.

to keep the faith. If there is no faith keeping among the people, government cannot stand. The conditions of Mexico are such that a Mexican people where for generations the people have been under a system of religious training that has not taught them honor and the value of the faith. These countries are notorious for false dealing, robbery, and graft, and as a consequence revolution follows revolution. A revolution has just occurred in Russia because the rulers did not keep faith with the people. To keep the faith will lead to war. To keep the faith a nation must prosecute grafters. It must arrest and punish criminals. If burglars and pick-up men prey upon the community, they must be run down, fought, and imprisoned. No, when a nation repudiates its faith with other nations, when it persistently refuses to be obedient to the international laws that have grown up through centuries of civilization, the other nations of the earth, in order to keep faith with their own people, will keep faith one with another, will be persuaded to take up arms to deal with the offender. Our Saviour commanded us to turn the other cheek. He also said to those who would take our coat to give our cloak also, but He did not command nations or men to give up civilization, or morality, or faith keeping at the command of any man or set of men.

The idea of keeping the faith indicates a general moral obligation. Not America above all, but humanity above all; right above all. The nation that tries to be over all will soon be under all. Do you ask why the red men of America northwest, the black men of Africa, the yellow and brown men of Asia, and the natives of the islands of the sea are uniting against the government of Germany. Why we may be compelled to go to war? It is because of the assault on that government "upon the rights of humanity because of the profound conviction that the nations of the world must protect the wrong of man, and must keep the faith, that the underlying principles of civilization are at stake.

We sometimes hear men of intelligence say, "My country right or wrong." Never. I am for my country if she is right. If wrong, it is my duty to help set her right. If there is any nation anywhere where men do not have the right of protest where they cannot lawfully resist abuses, or criticize the action of officials, that government does not keep faith with her ally or its own civil

To keep the faith indicates then a general moral obligation, a solidarity of humanity.

We expect men everywhere to keep the faith. The workers upon our railways, the members of great unions may not make war upon civilization for individual or personal gain. Those engaged upon commercial carriers by their employment are responsible for the feeling of the nation, when they accepted such employment they accepted a responsibility to the nation.

We expect all men in places of business trust, all trustees, all directors to keep the faith in administering their institutions, not to cut themselves for their own profit, but to see that the humblest shareholder has his just return.

The men of wit of each time are to cover wheat or foodstuffs or an necessity that they may make profit,

a fails to keep faith with their fellows.
It is the duty of the Christian above all others to keep the faith.
To keep faith in his dealings with men and to help men to see their responsibility to keep the faith

A GAS FIRE PLACE THAT MEETS EVERY DEMAND

Warm cozy evenings before a blazing hearth are enjoyed nightly in homes equipped with the new Radiantfire—science's latest invention in Gas heaters.

Constructed on scientific principles, its super-combustion burner develops a flame temperature several hundred degrees higher than any burner hitherto produced.

A Radiantfire Looks Well--Provides Abundant Heat

This practical fireplace—beautiful of design—adds charm and dignity to the finest home or office. Heat is easily regulated—as much or as little as desired—is noiseless, odorless and clean—is lighted or extinguished without “popping” or backfire—is economically operated.

Radiant fires may be secured to fit any grate. See them on display in our showrooms.

COUNTRY NOW IN STATE OF DEFENSE RED CROSS BRANCH AT SAUGERTIES

Pacifism Has Been Abandoned and Defense Plans are Being Pushed—Developments of the Day.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, March 21.—The United States today is in a state of defense. The administration has accepted Germany's gaze of battle. Pacifism has been abandoned. By direct orders from President Wilson the nation is concentrating on its defense plans.

In a few words, here are the developments of today:

First—President Wilson called congress to meet in extraordinary session on April 2—the earliest possible moment that the total membership can be brought together—to “receive a communication concerning grave matters of national policy which should be taken immediately under consideration.”

Second—Cabinet officials took steps to speed all work in any way touching upon the national defense program; Secretary Daniels conferred at length with the naval board and Secretary Baker took up with the general staff plans for securing officers from the enlisted personnel of the regular army for a volunteer force.

Third—The Council of National Defense named a “committee on munitions,” among whom were the biggest experts of the nation on that subject, to take care of the problem of standardizing plants to furnish guns and munitions for a force as large as may be needed.

Fourth—Cabinet members nailed as “an absolute falsehood” reports that the cabinet was not a unit in upholding President Wilson's hands in determining that Germany has created a state of war with the United States and that the only reply can be made by congress which, when it assembles, will declare that war exists as the result of Germany's aggression and outrages against American life and American property.

Fifth—Secretary of Commerce Redfield, echoing the sentiment of the entire cabinet, wrote a stinging rebuke to the “Emergency Peace Federation,” which asked him to “stave off war and work for a commission to mediate differences with Germany,” by saying: “I believe your organization and doctrine to be directly promotive of attacks upon American citizens and property.”

Sixth—Former President William Howard Taft, en route to Richmond to deliver an address tonight, announced that the organization of which he is the head, “The League to Enforce Peace,” will call off its convention which was to be held in May and every member be urged to support the president in the present crisis.

Seventh—Secretary of the Navy Daniels opened bids for construction of 200 additional submarine chasers which will be built by various ship yards at top speed. At the same time arrangements were made to standardize certain factories to turn out gasoline engines for craft of this type at a speed never heretofore attempted.

Eighth—Congressional leaders arranged for caucuses of Republican and Democratic members of the new house before the extra session date in order to perfect organization and prevent delays that might be dangerous.

Ninth—Senators still in Washington personally assured the president that the deliberations of the special session will be non-partisan and will support him in every way.

Washington is not panic-stricken. Officialdom, firmly convinced that the rage has been cast, is fully counting the cost. What this nation will have to do is already accepted as a fact. There is little difference of opinion in official quarters. Among the measures now under consideration, most of which are expected to be ordered carried out are the following:

Arrangement of a financial alliance between the United States—whether official or unofficial to be determined later—which will give the Entente Allies practically unlimited credit in the United States for the purchase of war supplies of every character.

The opening of all American ports and the establishment within them of coaling and provisioning facilities for the benefit of warships of the Entente Allies.

The use of the American navy to patrol the north and south Atlantic and a portion of the Pacific thus relieving for active service the many Entente warships now in use there.

No action has been taken on any of these propositions. They still are in formative stages. But officials point out that they are the next logical steps after congress acts.

Clinton Chapter News.

The regular meeting of Clinton Chapter O. E. S. will be held Friday evening of this week, the star degrees will be worked on five candidates and in that beautiful form of which Clinton Chapter is so well noted. During the initiation Mrs. Charlotte I. Morris will render some beautiful solos.

Mrs. Jennie Murray, the head of the refreshments committee, is to have as refreshments something that no one even “turns their nose up at.” It's liked by all.

And the social hour committee has a “scream” in store for those that are on hand Friday night. The cast in this sketch consists of some noted Clinton Chapter entertainers and Master Masons, and they have their parts arranged to make a big hit.

All Stars and Master Masons are invited to attend, and that means “be there.”

On Friday evening of this week, the Saugerties Auxiliary of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross will hold an important meeting and one of unusual interest. Among other noted speakers, they expect to be addressed by Mr. Rice, a Harvard student who just returned from ambulance service in France. The Saugerties Auxiliary is not only enthusiastic, but practically busy in Red Cross work. The following is the membership of the auxiliary:

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Arthur J. Sheeley of Cottekill is spending the day with Harold Sutton.

Mrs. Frank Brodie and family are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fox, at No. 41 East Strand.

Miss Lottie S. Hutton of this city was a guest over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Coon in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Emma Yachnke of Saugerties was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Van Aken of Sleightsburgh Sunday.

Mrs. James S. Winne has returned home from a ten days' trip through Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo E. Winne, who accompanied her to the south, will remain there for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bright of Portland, Oregon, are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a little daughter at their home on March 19. Mrs. Bright was formerly Miss Helen Adams of this city.

Trying to Raise Norwich.

Efforts to raise the side wheeler Norwich which sunk at her berth at the Lindsay dock in the Rondout creek the other day, have so far proved unavailing. If the tide lowers sufficiently today another effort will be made with four pumps at work to pump the water out of the hull.

No Chance for Kidnap.

Billy was quite proud of his baby sister and he thought the women really meant it when they said they would like to take her home with them. One day he was standing beside her buggy while his mother was shopping in a store. A woman came by and said, “My! My! What a pretty baby,” and “Bill said, “Yes, and there's a mamma belongs to her.”

Bamboo Shoots Palatable Food.

Bamboo shoots are considered edible in China, and it is said that when they are of good variety they form a vegetable dish that has no rival.

Hard Position.

Demonstrator (after the spill)—“How can I explain to him that it wasn't the fault of the car while he is quite senseless. After that it will be too late.”

Terrestrial Magnetism Blamed.

In the opinion of a French scientist, the swiveling motion that often breaks electric transmission lines is due as much to terrestrial magnetism as it is to wind.

What a Load!

The most powerful Persian camel, the one humed kind from the province of Khorassan, can carry a 600-pound load at a rate of 20 miles a day.

MAKES MANY MOTIONS

Gene Packard Has Mastered Galaxy of Curved Slants.

Pitcher's Stock in Trade Consists of Straight Overhand, Side Arm, Side and Underhand and Straight Underhand.

Five different pitching motions blend in making Gene Packard's pitching repertoire a baffling proposition for hostile batters.

Because he has delved into the depths of the curving craft, has mastered this galaxy of slants and is gifted with unlimited gameness, the wee southpaw of the Chicago Cubs ranks among the best in the majors and is now running “Jim” Vaughn a close race for the “star” role on Manager Mitchell's staff.

Packard's stock in trade consists of the straight overhand, side arm, side and underhand, cross-fire and straight underhand deliveries.

Because of his unusual number of deliveries Packard is well fortified against right-handed batters as well as the left handers.

Like most Southpaws, he has the straight overhand motion, and with this throws a big drop curve patterned after that which made Pfister invincible against the New York Giants of other years. In addition, he boasts a remarkable change of pace. He can snap the ball over the plate or he can hook it across the middle, using only the tantalizing flatter that made “Nap” Rucker famous.

Batters who faced Packard in the Federal league, as well as those who have looked over his benders in the National, say that this crossfire is about the hardest thing in the business to solve. It is especially puzzling to the left-hander, for the reason he doesn't know whether the ball is going to break away or into him. Packard also throws the crossfire with an underhand motion, and has a delivery that is so quick and snappy that a man at the plate hardly has time to see what is to be thrown. His fifth method of flinging is a plain side arm ball that is heaved from the shins to the head.

METHOD TO REWARD PLAYERS

Cornell Adopts Unique Plan to Recognize Work of Athletes in Winning Various Games.

Cornell university has adopted a new method of rewarding football and baseball players for winning games, which has been endorsed by the athletic council of the Ithaca institution. The privilege of wearing a miniature gold football on the watch chain or fob will be given to wearers of the football C after a season in which the team has won both the Michigan and Pennsylvania games.

Gold baseballs may be worn similarly as a reward for the winning of six out of nine baseball games from Princeton, Yale, Michigan and Pennsylvania, provided that the six victories include two over Pennsylvania.

GABLE HOUSE AT DARTMOUTH

Structure Will Have Accommodations for Thirty Visitors—Nominal Fee Will Be Charged.

Dartmouth college will conduct “The Gable House” by means of the athletic council and it will have accommodations for 30 men. It is intended to meet the needs of visiting athletes. It includes single rooms, a large living room and assembly quarters, as well as a conference room for use of coaches. A nominal fee for lodging will be charged and meals will be served at the college commons in a separate dining room.

WOULD RESIDE IN CINCINNATI

Manager Christy Mathewson to Make Ohio City His Home After Training Season Ends.

Christy Mathewson has decided to become a citizen of Cincinnati, and will make his home there after the training season ends.

He promised to move to the Ohio town at the start of the winter, and got in bad with the Redland fans by remaining in New York.

GAY LIFE OF BROADWAY LURED HER TO DEATH.

Mrs. Elsie Lee Hilair, the young Brooklyn woman, whose love of the gay life—tango teas, cabarets and the hectic pleasures of New York's “White Light District,” found its climax in her murder in the Hotel Martinique. The New York police have failed to find the man, but the fact that she was the victim of a band of “tango thieves” seems certain. Mrs. Hilair, nineteen years old, married to a devoted husband and mistress of a neat Brooklyn home, could not forego the secret pleasures of Broadway. Always at home at night she, unbeknown to her husband, frequented the cabarets in the afternoons. Recently she met a man of the type who frequent “tango teas” known as “dancing men.” It is for him the police are searching, believing that he lured her to the hotel there to steal the diamonds the young woman wore and strangled her to death. A woman is known to have been his accomplice.

THE FRANKLIN CAR

Everybody is Talking About Light Weight
So Are We—And We're Also
Quoting Figures

IN FACT, anyone who knows the Franklin Car as we know it, can't help talking Light Weight.

Not mere weight taken off at the demand of the public, but Scientific Light Weight, that has been a Franklin principle for 15 years.

From the start to this day, Scientific Light Weight has always distinguished the Franklin among fine cars.

But, speaking of figures, kindly make note of this:

Not one of the Franklin open cars weighs over 2280 pounds; not one of the Franklin enclosed cars weighs over 2620 pounds.

Compare these weights with those of other fine cars you know or think favorably of.

Do a little subtracting.

That difference in favor of the Franklin means:

10,000 miles to the set of tires (in many cases more.)
20 miles to the gallon of gasoline (a fair average.)
50% less depreciation.

Remember
Franklin Statements are Fact-Backed

And that difference means more than dollars and cents.

Make a ride in the Franklin show you about comfort, safety and reliability, rather than have us tell you. It will convince you more quickly.

Since these three elements are the natural result of Scientific Light Weight, the Franklin owner enjoys them to a degree unknown to owners of heavy cars.

So we say to you, in justice to your feelings and your pocket-book, find out what we have to say and prove about the Franklin.

Then meet a Franklin Owner.

Compare notes.

We leave the rest up to you.

FISCHER PLANS TO ERECT EIGHT STORES

A number of workmen are busy on the property of Lew Fischer on Broadway tearing down the old buildings in the rear of where the Broadway Casino stood before the fire. The lot will be cleared up and a row of stores will be erected along Broadway. Eight stores will be built on the front of the lot and the rear will remain vacant for the present until such time when a theater can be erected. The stores on Broadway will be erected so as not to interfere with the erection of a theater building at a later time. When funds are secured for the erection of the theater on the rear of the lot, one of the stores will be converted into a lobby and entrance to the theater.

Plans and specifications for the erection of the store block have been prepared and will be submitted to contractors for bids. The contract will be let within a few days probably by the last of the present week.

Mr. Fischer has not given up the idea of erecting a theater on the ground and the stores on Broadway call for such erection that they will not interfere with the building of a theater in the rear. A force of men will be put to work on Thursday removing the wreckage from the front of the lot and as soon as the frost is out of the ground work will be begun on the excavation for the new building.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, March 21.—At the village election held on Tuesday at Firemen's Hall the entire fusion ticket was elected. For president of the village, Louis A. Hoornbeck; trustees Henry Canner and I. W. Millard; collector, Frank Rose; treasurer, Clark Bunting; assessor for three years, Addison Stratton; and all the propositions were carried with the exception of the proposition for a standard fire alarm. It was an exciting election from start to finish. There were 577 votes cast, between the hours of 11:30 and 3:30 o'clock. The strife arose by one faction of the Republican party. After the fusion candidates were nominated and after securing enough signatures another ticket was put in the field with Edward B. Kimble for trustee and John A. Tice for treasurer, endorsing the remainder of the fusion ticket. But the strife waxed warm and strong and at the election the two gentlemen were defeated, giving Mr. Millard a majority of 45 and Mr. Bunting 79 majority.

Mrs. C. Dwight Divine entertained the members of the "Knitting Club" at her home on Canal street Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Coons entertained a company of friends at their home on Center street Tuesday evening.

"Uncle Jake" Frear, nearly 95 years old, who has been confined to his home for a week or more, came out as bright as a lark on election day to cast his vote and walked home and smiled and said "No!" to an invitation to ride home in an automobile.

Joseph Merritt of Canal street recently slipped on the ice, fell and broke his arm at the wrist in two places.

No Time to Read.

"Pause, O youth or maiden," wrote Andrew Lang, "before you accustom your lips to this fatal formula: 'I have no time to read.' You have all the time which for you exists, and it is abundant. What are you doing with it—with your leisure? Mainly gossiping. Our modern malady is gregariousness. We must be in company chattering.

"To be always with others, always gregarious, always chattering, like monkeys in treetops, is our ruling vice, and this is the reason why we have no time to read and why you see so many people pass their leisure when alone in whistling or whittling. They have time to whittle."

A B C of Safety First.

There is a tradition that the man who compiled the "Stop! Look! Listen!" admonition was well paid for his philological efforts. * * * A resident of Georgetown calls attention to a sign in a workshop in that section of the city bearing the letters "A. B. C." One is placed over each machine. The proprietor explained that this stood for "Always Be Careful." Perhaps the psychology of the initiated warning lies in the fact that the curiosity is bestirred enough to inquire about it—a little trick that advertisers know well.—Washington Times.

Easter Fires.

The early Saxons used to light Easter fires on the hills in expression of their joy. This custom only died out in the early part of the nineteenth century. It is only observed up to this day in the "Woods of Teutoburgum," where on the eve of Easter Sunday the fires are lit as of old.

Even Kipling Will Pun.

There is a new story about Mr. Kipling, for which G. F. Monkhood is responsible, having brought it out in his book, "The Less Familiar Kipling and Kiplingiana." It appears that a friend asked Kipling whether he would not write on airmen, as he had done on the commanders and crews of submarines. "Perhaps, some day," replied Mr. Kipling. "Oh, but you must!" insisted his friend. "Let's see whether we can hit on a good title." "Well," said Mr. Kipling, after a moment's reflection, "what do you say to 'Plane Tails From the Sky'?"

IN the world since history began JOAN OF ARC

stands supreme as the greatest woman who ever lived. Ignorant, unlettered, she rose from a peasant's hearth until, within a short span of two years, she stood beside kings.

At seventeen years of age she was commander-in-chief of the French armies. At nineteen she was burned at the stake by the people she loved. They did not understand.

It is a story which has thrilled men, women and children through the centuries. Now it is told, beautifully, wonderfully, by the marvelous motion picture.

KINGSTON'S GREAT WHITE WAY BEGINS

The section of Wall street in the neighborhood of Cohen's clothing store has taken on the appearance of the famous "white way" of New York city and visitors to that section of the city are greeted by the sight of one of the largest electric signs between New York and Albany. A sign 30 feet high and 5 feet wide has been erected on the front of the store and over three hundred electric light bulbs are used in the illumination of the sign.

At the top of the sign is the Cohen crest appearing in wavy lights while directly below is the name of the firm which is spelled out one letter at a time until the entire name "Cohen" is spelled out. The name then goes out and comes on again with the entire name spelled out at once. This is repeated over again. The lower section of the sign shows the Hart, Schaffner & Marx crest and burns continuously. The sign is painted a mission green to match the color scheme of the store and presents a very pleasing appearance during the day when not illuminated.

The sign was procured through the Kingston Gas & Electric Company and is one of the finest along the river. The sign may be read at a distance of half a mile and that section of the street near the store presents one with the impression of being in the vicinity of 42nd street, New York. Other progressive merchants in town will probably follow the Cohen firm and install similar signs on their places of business. The idea of electric signs and bright illumination of business shops and streets is one of the most modern, and progressive merchants and business men everywhere are rapidly adopting the idea.

YOUR FIRE POLICY.

Have You Read It Carefully? Do You Understand Its Terms?

William Hardwick, Melville's leading grocer, was a man of forethought. He carried fire insurance both on his store and his residence. The policy applying to his store he kept in his house and that applying to his house and its contents he kept in his safe at the store. Thus in the event of a fire in either property the policy applying to it would escape the flames.

One night William Hardwick's slumbers were disturbed by the frantic ringing of the telephone.

"Come right downtown," urged an excited voice. "Your store's going up in smoke."

When Hardwick arrived the fire was under control, and fifteen minutes later the "all out" signal was sounded.

"I should worry," reflected the grocer, after a brief survey of the damage done. "There's about $6,000 worth of stock destroyed. And, as it happens, I carry just $6,000 worth of insurance." And, leaving one of his clerks to watch the premises, Hardwick went back to bed.

"Now, then, Mr. Hardwick," said the adjuster two days later, "my estimate agrees with yours. Six thousand dollars covers all the damage done. That means that we owe you $4,500."

"What's that?" demanded Hardwick, indignantly. "You owe me $4,500? What bunco game is this? Why don't you owe me $6,000, the face of my policy?"

"Because of the 80 per cent co-insurance clause," explained the adjuster, and he indicated a paragraph in the policy which the grocer had so carefully guarded.

"This clause provides that we shall be liable for no greater proportion of the loss than the sum insured bears to 80 per cent of the cash value of the property insured. Your stock is, or was, worth $10,000. Had you carried $8,000 insurance we would have paid you your loss in full—that is, up to $8,000. But as it is, I repeat that we owe you but $4,500. If, however, the loss had been total we would have had to pay you $6,000, the amount of your policy. This misunderstanding has arisen, Mr. Hardwick, merely because you have never taken the time to thoroughly read and adjust your policy."

"Your carelessness in this regard has cost you $1,500, Mr. Hardwick. I am sincerely sorry for this, but fall to see that you have any one but yourself to blame!"—H. J. Barrett in New York World.

RUSSIA FREES MANY PRISONERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Petrograd, March 21.—The provisional government has granted general amnesty to all political prisoners. Announcement to this effect was made today. Thousands of political prisoners are thus released.

A manifesto has been issued by the new Russian government affirming the Constitution of Finland. The Finnish Diet has been summoned to meet. These are regarded as the first steps towards Finnish autonomy.

The clergy of the Orthodox Russian church at Kiev has formally recognized the new government.

The Duke of Mecklenburg, a former German nobleman, who became a Russian subject before the war began, has been imprisoned. Other nobles arrested by the police of the provisional government include General Baron Fredericks, former minister of court to ex-Czar Nicholas, Governor-General Gontscharov of the Siberian province of Amur and General Nostchenko, commander of the troops in Amur province.

During an address to a crowd of soldiers, workmen and radicals, who were clamoring for the lives of the members of the old ministry, Minister of Justice Kerezhko said:

"Russian freedom is based on justice to all. Those ministers in prison are entitled to justice and not vengeance. No wrong shall be done to them if I can help it. This government is not to be based on blood. Great field headquarters of the Russian army is said to have received the news of the czar's abdication with shouts of acclamation. Grand Duke Nicholas is said to be on the western front."

Re-establishing A Family

By F. A. MITCHEL

Herman von Bishoff came to America a young man determined to make a fortune, return with it to Germany and build up his family, which was an old one, though impoverished. Von Bishoff chose a valuable field for money making in America. He became a brewer and by the time he was fifty years old was in a position to retire from business with the fortune he had come over for. But a business life had accustomed him to active habits, and he did not wish going back to Germany to a life of idleness. Besides, the pan-European war had come on, and he thought he could be of more service to the Fatherland by sending money for hospital service.

Von Bishoff had no son, but he had a daughter, Hilda, about twenty years old. It had been his intention to send for his nephew, the son of his older brother, to come over to America with the hope of making a match between this young man and Hilda. His fortune would all happily pass to Hilda and through her and her husband the former influential status of the Von Bishoffs would be re-established. But the war came on, and of course Carl von Bishoff was needed in the army, and on this account the plan was delayed if not altogether extinguished.

Hilda von Bishoff's associates were native Americans, and she had not that love for Germany that had remained in her father. When the war broke out she told him that she wished to go abroad to do Red Cross work, and he only consented on her promise to devote herself to the care of sick and wounded soldiers in Germany. But Hilda, though she had learned the German language in her childhood, had forgotten it, and she did not relish the idea of going among a people whose language she did not understand. Her father would not consent to her going to any other country.

Hilda had been given plenty of pin money and, not having spent it all, had something in bank. One day she left for Europe without saying anything to her father as to her going and on her arrival at the seat of war was enrolled in the American Red Cross service. She found that the sick and wounded consisted of all kinds. There were English, French, Belgians, Germans, Austrians and citizens of the United States to be cared for, and all received the same attention. Of course the enemy sick and wounded as soon as they recovered were considered prisoners and placed in concentration camp, while the French, English and Americans were returned to duty.

Hilda remained at her post of duty a year, when, her health giving out, she returned to America. Some of her friends suspected while nursing a soldier she had lost her heart to him, but Hilda would not admit it. Her father got hold of the rumor, and it worried him very much, for he had not given up re-establishing his family in Germany through her. He questioned her as to the matter, but got nothing out of her. Indeed, she denied the story.

However, Von Bishoff's plan for building up his family by marrying his daughter to her cousin Carl was dashed because news came to his uncle that he had been killed in the war.

One day a young man who gave his name as Flegler appeared at Herman Bishoff's residence and asked for Hilda. He was the soldier that she had nursed as a prisoner. He had been sent to England as a prisoner of war and had escaped. He had then got transportation to America by securing a berth as fireman on a ship about to sail for New York. His object was to get back to Germany by way of the United States.

The first thing Von Bishoff knew about the stranger's coming was information from his daughter that she had given her troth to the fugitive and desired her father's sanction to the match. She and her lover planned to be married before his return to the army. Von Bishoff, realizing by this time that his daughter would have her own way in the choice of a husband, gave a forced consent. The couple were married, and a few days later the groom sailed for Holland, from which country he expected to cross the line into Germany.

Six months after his departure his wife received word from him that he had succeeded in what he had undertaken and was again in the ranks fighting for the fatherland. Then came a letter stating that he was at home badly wounded.

Hilda now Frau Flegler, determined to join him. Her father, finding that she was resolved on doing so, determined to go with her. They went by way of Copenhagen and in due time arrived at the village from which Herman Bishoff had departed thirty years before for America. The Schloss, a dilapidated residence that had once been a noble pile, was still in possession of the family, and there they went. It was occupied by a sister of Von Bishoff, whom he had not taken account of since his departure for America, for he especially valued only the male members of the family. The father and daughter were to put up here until they could learn of the whereabouts of her husband.

"I have a son who is at home recovering from wounds," said the Frau.

"Indeed?" replied her brother. "Let us pay our respects to him at once."

They filed into the room where the young man lay. Hilda gave a spring for him. He was her husband.

Dust Dangers.
An analysis of the contents of a vacuum cleaner made recently showed that the dust which had collected on the bookshelves in a library consisted of "hair, green wool, white wool, cotton fibers, celluloid, pieces of finger nails, fly wings, sand grains, wood, paper, string, metallic iron and leather." The hair was probably derived from soft hats, the wool and cotton fibers from clothing, sand from the mud tracked in on shoes and the gradual pulverizing of the floor, fly wings from dead flies and paper from book leaves.

Curiously enough, very few germs were found in this dust. Yet there is no question that inhaling it might lead to various diseased conditions. This would not be the result of any disease germs contained in the dust itself, but to the irritating effects produced by the dust particles when brought into contact with the bronchial membranes. Thus it is evident that even when free dust may be harmful when inhaled.—Los Angeles Times.

As you peacefully crunch that golded-brown, buttered-hot slice of morning toast, think what a great invention toasting is anyway. Is there any flavor like it (Cries of "No!" "No!")

We've added a new discovery to this fine old invention, to produce the Lucky Strike cigarette. We went right back to the toasting fork and the kitchen stove for the idea—after five years of experiment.

The tobacco—it's toasted

You see, we wanted to make a Burley cigarette. Because we know that smokers were awfully fond of Burley—and it certainly is "blame good tobacco"—60 million pounds poured out of those green, blue and red tins last year. That's enough for 35 billion Burley cigarettes.

Lucky Strike, the real Burley cigarette

But until we struck this toasting idea a Burley cigarette couldn't be made; flavor wouldn't hold. But now! That Burley flavor stays right with Lucky Strike—the real Burley cigarette. Because the tobacco—it's toasted.

A. A. MINSTRELS

Black Face Comedy to be Varied by High School Students With "The Cicero-Cataline Squabble" on Friday Evening.

The A. A. minstrels, the biggest dramatic event of the year at the high school, will be presented by the boys and girls of the school athletic association Friday evening in the auditorium. The proceeds will be for school athletics, both the girls' and boys' teams being benefited.

The black-faced portion of the production is, of course, the salient feature. The circle as originally planned has been cut to fifteen choristers, who will be girded on either end by an abundance of foolishness in the jokesmiths, "Prett" Joyce, "Caruso" Pailis, "Dudey-Du-La" Dana, and "Dog" Hicks. Honest, these aren't stage names, but have been prefixed to their owners for many years. Their personalities are just as rich and original as their nicknames.

In the music line they have scratched up the favorite racy songs of the school boys, such as "Pretty Baby," "Down Honolulu Way," "When Evening Shadows Fall," "How's Everything in Dixie," and will sing with a lively swing.

But the girls can't be downed in everything. It seems. Fourteen of the school's best, who are real dramatists, and who for one night will lose their respect for the same old statement of olden times, will form the second part of the program, a satire on the familiar conspiracy of Cataline and Cicero's speech to the senate revealing the plot. They've called it "The Cicero-Cataline Squabble" and with a rare sense of concocting humorous situations, bring in the women of the day. It's sort of a musical comedy, the school orchestra furnishing the music. Alice Scott wrote the play. There will be four scenes, the first that of the banquet hall at the home of Cataline, the second the kitchen in Cicero's home, the third the Temple of Jupiter Stator, and the last a street in Rome.

The cast of characters is the following: Cicero, a Roman consul and orator, Olga Owens; Cataline, a Roman noble, Mary Lavender; Tullia, Cicero's daughter, Helen Wood; Tullia, Cicero's daughter, Pauline Van Wagenen; Patrick Connor, policeman, Faith Safford; conspirators with Cataline: Marcus Lucca, Dorothy Brown; Tonnellus, Irene Joslovitz; Mimicius, Mary Bruyn; Publicius, Helen Miller; Manlius, Lillian Herdman; Lazy Lentulus, Josephine Schmidt; Senatus Romanus, Helen Pennington; Deus ex Machina, Alice H. Scott; servant, Ruth Terwilliger.

Several selections will be given by the school's 14-piece orchestra, augmented by Bernard McBride, xylophonist.

Admission will be 15 cents and after the minstrels the orchestra will play for dancing in the evensing, admission to which will be 10 cents.

AN ARTISTIC PERSONALITY.

Hans Kronold to Play at the Symphony Orchestra.

Today the American concert stage can boast of no more noted artistic personality than Hans Kronold, the eminent violinist. He was born in Krakau, Austria, but at the age of 14 came to this country, which has been for so many years his home and his country. In fact, Mr. Kronold is a New Yorker. For years Kronold's studies were carried on with Anton Hekking, solo cellist for the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and later solo cellist with the Damrosch Symphony Orchestra of New York.

Mr. Kronold has had a wonderful orchestral experience, having played under the baton of Dvorak, Tchaikowsky, Walter Damrosch, Anton Seidl and Emil Paur. He has also appeared with some of the most renowned artists as Schumann-Heink, Nordica, Eames, De Reszke, Bisham, Campanari, Scharwenka, etc. He will not only be the soloist at this concert to be given at the high school on Saturday evening, March 31 (and at the public rehearsal in the afternoon), but he will play with the orchestra which will present as their symphonic work Mozart's "Jupiter Symphony," being played in New York this season, and always beautiful and appealing to music lovers as well as to musicians. Tickets for patrons and subscribers may now be had from Miss Jessie Ougheltree. Patrons will have the first opportunity to secure an exchange of tickets, and subscribers, before the program will be open for the general public.

MISS SPRING AND PINOCHLE EXPERTS

Today was the first that Miss Spring Registered in Kingston, and Pinochle Experts are Happy—Add's Vim.

While it may be hard to explain, yet it is an undoubted fact that pinochle playing and spring weather mix agreeably, especially after a long hard winter as that just past, and for that reason the experts taking part in the Odd Fellows' Pinochle League are feeling duly happy from the fact that Miss Spring registered in Kingston today for an extended visit as it is expected to add vim to their playing during the closing days of the pinochle season in Kingston.

This evening Aretas experts will endeavor to show the Port Ewen cracks how to play the game at the Kosciusko Lodge rooms, and an effort will be made by the men under Captain Bush to knock a few games off the lead of Clay Lodge who to date are leading the league by five games over their nearest competitors. The mere fact that the Clay players are leading Aretas' team by five games is not deterring Captain Bush from still clinging to his opinion that he has the better players, but they have been playing in harder luck. Captain Port of Clay Lodge states it is merely skill that has kept his team in the lead. Today no bulletins were forthcoming from the quarters of Judge McKenzie of Port Ewen or Captain Ray Whitehead of Kosciusko. The league standing to date follows:

Clay Lodge	40	29
Aretas Lodge	35	28
Kosciusko Lodge	33	33
Port Ewen Lodge	24	42

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

(United States Senator Norris)

Washington, March 21.—United States Senator George W. Norris, one of the twelve senators who made it impossible to pass the Armed Neutrality bill last Congress, has asked Governor Keith Neville, of Nebraska, to urge the Legislature now in session to pass a law that will enable him to have his course in opposing the president's request for power to arm United States merchant ships passed upon by his constituents. "I have no desire," said Mr. Norris in a letter to Governor Neville, "to represent the people of Nebraska in the United States Senate or elsewhere if my official conduct is contrary to their wishes, and if I am misrepresenting them the remedy is a recall."

Port Chaplain's Lecture Tonight. The people of Kingston will, this evening, have the opportunity of hearing of the work and experiences of a port chaplain at Ellis Island, when the Rev. Eliot White will deliver the second of the Post Jubilee lectures at the Fair Street Reformed Church. To give one an idea of the variety of experiences encountered by Mr. White in this unprofitable work, so little known about, it might be stated, that in a few days the port chaplain was able to aid a lad sent from Seattle, Washington, for deportation to Ireland, to secure a position on a steamer bound for France; to help a Venezuelan "stow-away" who proved to have been an engineer, second mate, etc., and with a record for "good character and conduct" and who had been consigned to the "excluded list," to sail on a ship for Savannah, with pay; to assist a young English woman and her party consisting of four children, "an intended sister-in-law," and friends bound for California, to reach their destinations within a comparatively short time, in spite of what, without the chaplain's help, would have proven insurmountable obstacles of missing affidavits, etc. These are a few incidents picked at random. Mr. White should be himself heard, for one to have any real idea of the Christian service rendered to the "Stranger," who comes to our port at Ellis Island.

Bonds With Electric Signs.

The Newburgh city council is planning to pass an ordinance requiring indemnity bonds to be furnished in every case where permission to erect electric signs over sidewalks is granted. By granting such permission, it is asserted, that the city is liable for any injuries incurred through such signs falling.

COUNTRY NOW IN STATE OF DEFENSE

Pacifism Has Been Abandoned and Defense Plans are Being Pushed—Developments of the Day.

Washington, March 21.—The United States today is in a state of defense. The administration has accepted Germany's page of battle. Pacifism has been abandoned. By direct orders from President Wilson the nation is concentrating on its defense plans.

In a few words, here are the developments of today.

First—President Wilson called congress to meet in extraordinary session on April 2—the earliest possible moment that the total membership can be brought together—to receive a communication concerning grave matters of national policy which should be taken immediately under consideration.

Second—Cabinet officials took steps to speed all work in any way touching upon the national defense program. Secretary Daniels conferred at length with the naval board and Secretary Baker took up with the general staff plans for securing officers from the enlisted personnel of the regular army for a volunteer force.

Third—The Council of National Defense named a "committee on munitions," among whom were the biggest experts of the nation on that subject, to take care of the problem of standardizing plants to furnish arms and munitions for a force as large as may be needed.

Fourth—Cabinet members nailed an "absolute falsehood" report that the cabinet was not a unit in upholding President Wilson's hands in determining that Germany has created a state of war with the United States and that the only reply can be made by congress which, when it assembles, will declare that war exists as the result of Germany's aggression and outrages against American life and American property.

Fifth—Secretary of Commerce Redfield, echoing the sentiment of the entire cabinet, wrote a stinging rebuke to the "Emergency Peace Federation," which asked him to "leave off war and work for a commission to mediate differences with Germany," by saying: "I believe your organization and doctrine to be directly promotive of attacks upon American citizens and property."

You are those who are doing more than anyone else to bring about war."

Sixth—Former President William Howard Taft, en route to Richmond to deliver an address tonight, announced that the organization of which he is the head, "The League to Enforce Peace," will call off its convention which was to be held in May and every member he urged to support the president in the present crisis.

Seventh—Secretary of the Navy Daniels opened bids for construction of 200 additional submarine chasers at top speed. At the same time arrangements were made to standardize certain factories to turn out gasoline engines for craft of this type at a speed never heretofore attained.

Eighth—Congressional leaders arranged for a caucus of Republican and Democratic members of the new house before the extra session date in order to perfect organization and prevent delays that might be dangerous.

Ninth—Senators still in Washington personally assured the president that the deliberations of the special session will be non-partisan and will support him in every way.

Washington is not panicky-stricken. Officialdom, firmly convinced that the race has been lost, is fully counting the cost. What this nation will have to do is already accepted as a fact. There is little difference of opinion in official quarters. Among the measures now under consideration, most of which are expected to be ordered carried out are the following:

Arrangement of a financial alliance between the United States—whether official or unofficial to be determined later—which will give the Entente Allies practically unlimited credit in the United States for the purchase of war supplies of every character.

The opening of all American ports and the establishment within them of coding and provisioning facilities for the benefit of warships of the Entente Allies.

The use of the American navy to patrol the north and south Atlantic and a portion of the Pacific thus relieving for active service the many Intente warships now in use there.

No action has been taken on any of these propositions. They still are in formative stages. But officials point out that they are the next logical steps after Congress acts.

Clinton Chapter News.

The regular meeting of Clinton Chapter O. E. S. will be held Friday evening of this week, the star degrees will be worked on five candidates and in that beautiful form of which Clinton Chapter is so well noted. During the initiation Mrs. Charlotte I. Morris will render some beautiful solos.

Mrs. Jennie Murray, the head of the refreshments committee, is to have as refreshments something that no one ever "turns their nose up at." It's liked by all.

And the social hour committee has a "scream" in store for those that are on hand Friday night. The cast in this sketch consists of some noted Clinton Chapter entertainers and Master Masons and they have their parts arranged to make a hit.

All Stars and Master Masons are invited to attend, and that means "be there."

ABOUT THE FOLKS.

Arthur J. Sheeley of Cottageville is spending the day with Harold Sutton.

Mrs. Frank Brodie and family are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fox, at No. 11 East Strand.

Miss Lottie S. Hutton of this city was a guest over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Coon in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Emma Yachuk of Saugerties was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert G. Van Veen of Sleightsbush Sunday.

Mrs. James S. Winne has returned home from a ten days' trip through Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo E. Winne, who accompanied her to the south, will remain there for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bright of Portland, Oregon, are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a little daughter at their home on March 19. Mrs. Bright was formerly Miss Helen Adams of this city.

Trying to Raise Norwich. Efforts to raise the side wheeler Norwich which sank at her berth at the Lindsley dock in the Rondout creek the other day, have so far proved unavailing. If the tide lowers sufficiently today another effort will be made with four pumps at work to pump the water out of the hull.

No Chance for Kidnapers. Billy was quite proud of his baby sister and he thought the women really meant it when they said they would like to take her home with them. One day he was standing beside her buggy while his mother was shopping in a store. A woman came by and said, "My! My! What a pretty baby." and Billy said, "Yes, and there's a mamma belongs to her."

Bamboo Shoots Palatable Food. Bamboo shoots are considered edible in China, and it is said that when they are of good variety they form a vegetable dish that has no rival.

Hard Position. Demonstrator (after the spill)—"How can I explain to him that it wasn't the fault of the car while he is quite senseless. After that it will be too late."

Terrestrial Magnetism Blamed. In the opinion of a French scientist, the swarming motion that often breaks electric transmission lines is due as much to terrestrial magnetism as it is to wind.

What a Load! The most powerful Persian camel, the one humped kind from the province of Khorsan, can carry a 600-pound load at a rate of 20 miles a day.

MAKES MANY MOTIONS

Gene Packard Has Mastered Galaxy of Curved Slants.

Pitcher's Stock in Trade Consists of Straight Overhand, Side Arm, Side and Underhand and Straight Underhand.

Five different pitching motions blend in making Gene Packard's pitching repertoire a baffling proposition for hostile batters.

Because he has delved into the depths of the curving craft, has mastered this galaxy of slants and is gifted with unlimited guile, the new southpaw of the Chicago Cubs ranks among the best in the majors and is now running "Jim" Vaughn a close race for the "star" role on Manager Mitchell's staff.

Packard's stock in trade consists of the straight overhand, side arm, side and underhand, cross-fire and straight underhand deliveries.

Because of his unusual number of deliveries Packard is well fortified against right-handed batters as well as the left handers.

Like most Southpaws, he has the straight overhand motion, and with this throws a high drop curve patterned after that which made Piester invincible against the New York Giants of other years. In addition, he boasts a remarkable change of pace. He can snap the ball over the plate or he can hook it across the middle, using only the tantalizing floater that made "Nap" Rucker famous.

Batters who faced Packard in the Federal league, as well as those who have looked over his handers in the National, say that this crossfire is about the hardest thing in the business to solve. It is especially puzzling to the left hander, for the reason he doesn't know whether the ball is going to break away or into him. Packard also throws the crossfire with an underhand motion, and has a delivery that is so quick and snappy that a man at the plate hardly has time to see what is to be thrown. His fifth method of slinging is a plain side arm ball that is heaved from the slant to the head.

METHOD TO REWARD PLAYERS

Cornell Adopts Unique Plan to Recognize Work of Athletes in Winning Various Games.

Cornell university has adopted a new method of rewarding football and baseball players for winning games, which has been endorsed by the athletic council of the Ithaca institution. The privilege of wearing a miniature gold football on the watch chain or fob will be given to winners of the football C after a season in which the team has won both the Michigan and Pennsylvania games.

Gold baseballs may be worn similarly as a reward for the winning of six out of nine baseball games from Princeton, Yale, Michigan and Pennsylvania, provided that the six victories include two over Pennsylvania.

GABLE HOUSE AT DARTMOUTH

Structure Will Have Accommodations for Thirty Visitors—Nominal Fee Will Be Charged.

Dartmouth college will conduct "The Gable House" by means of the athletic council and it will have accommodations for 30 men. It is intended to meet the needs of visiting athletes. It includes single rooms, a large living room and assembly quarters, as well as a conference room for use of coaches. A nominal fee for lodging will be charged and meals will be served at the college commons in a separate dining room.

WOULD RESIDE IN CINCINNATI

Manager Christy Mathewson to Make Ohio City His Home After Training Season Ends.

Christy Mathewson has decided to become a citizen of Cincinnati, and will make his home there after the training season ends.

He promised to move to the Ohio town at the start of the winter, and got in bad with the Redland fans by remaining in New York.

GAY LIFE OF BROADWAY LURED HER TO DEATH.

Mrs. Elsie Lee Hilair, the young Brooklyn woman, whose love of the gay life—tango teas, cabarets and the hectic pleasures of New York's "White Light District," found its climax in her murder in the Hotel Martique. The New York Police have failed to find the man, but the fact that she was the victim of a band of "tango thieves" seems certain. Mrs. Hilair, nineteen years old, married to a devoted husband and mistress of a neat Brooklyn home, could not forego the secret pleasures of Broadway. Always at home at night, she unbeknown to her husband, frequented the cabarets in the afternoon. Recently she met a man of the type who frequent "tango teas" known as "dancing men." It is for him the police are searching, believing that he lured her to the hotel there to steal the diamonds the young woman wore and strangled her to death. A woman is known to have been his accomplice.

Attar of roses, which is an oil, is obtained from three species of wild roses: Rosa centifolia, R. moschata, and R. damascena. The rose gardens at Ghazipur, India, have long been famous for their output of oil of roses. All these roses thrive with little care in California.

Why Do You Worry?

Why should anyone worry? To worry shortens life. Take anger, it excites and poisons the system. The federal health service has taken worry so seriously that it has issued a bulletin warning the American people against the danger of worrying and the blessing that comes to those who are active members of the glad-hand society.

GOSSARD CORSETS ON LIVING MODELS

See how nine women with ordinary figures obtain charming, graceful figure lines with correctly fitted Gossard Corsets. See how Mrs. Allen and her three daughters were cruelly snubbed and then how their triumphant entrance into society was made possible through the kind offices of Mrs. Stuyvesant.

Mothers are urged to bring their daughters, as this picture is equally delightful to young girls.

Complimentary Passes are being issued by us and you can obtain same by calling at our Corset Department or office. The demand for seats will be great and even though we have engaged the Kingston Opera House you are urged to secure your seats early to avoid disappointment. Call and get your tickets today.

THE FRANKLIN CAR

Everybody is Talking About Light Weight So Are We—And We're Also Quoting Figures

IN FACT, anyone who knows the Franklin Car as we know it, can't help talking Light Weight.

Not mere weight taken off at the demand of the public, but Scientific Light Weight, that has been a Franklin principle for 15 years.

From the start to this day, Scientific Light Weight has always distinguished the Franklin among fine cars.

But, speaking of figures, kindly make note of this:

Not one of the Franklin open cars weighs over 2280 pounds; not one of the Franklin enclosed cars weighs over 2620 pounds.

Compare these weights with those of other fine cars you know or think favorably of.

Do a little subtracting.

That difference in favor of the Franklin means:

10,000 miles to the set of tires (in many cases more.)

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline (a fair average.)

50% less depreciation.

And that difference means more than dollars and cents.

Make a ride in the Franklin show you about comfort, safety and reliability, rather than have us tell you. It will convince you more quickly.

Since these three elements are the natural result of Scientific Light Weight, the Franklin owner enjoys them to a degree unknown to owners of heavy cars.

So we say to you, in justice to your feelings and your pocket-book, find out what we have to say and prove about the Franklin.

Then meet a Franklin Owner. Compare notes. We leave the rest up to you.

FISCHER PLANS TO ERECT EIGHT STORES

A number of workmen are busy on the property of Lew Fischer on Broadway tearing down the old buildings in the rear of where the Broadway Casino stood before the fire. The lot will be cleared up and a row of stores will be erected along Broadway. Eight stores will be built on the front of the lot and the rear will remain vacant for the present until such time when a theater can be erected. The stores on Broadway will be erected so as not to interfere with the erection of a theater building at a later time. When funds are secured for the erection of the theater on the rear of the lot, one of the stores will be converted into a lobby and entrance to the theater.

Plans and specifications for the erection of the store block have been prepared and will be submitted to contractors for bids. The contract will be let within a few days probably by the last of the present week.

Mr. Fischer has not given up the idea of erecting a theater on the ground and the stores on Broadway call for such erection that they will not interfere with the building of a theater in the rear. A force of men will be put to work on Thursday removing the wreckage from the front of the lot and as soon as the frost is out of the ground work will be begun on the excavation for the new building.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, March 21.—At the village election held on Tuesday at Firemen's Hall the entire fusion ticket was elected. For president of the village, Louis A. Moornbeek; trustees Henry Canner and I. W. Millard; collector, Frank Rose; treasurer, Clark Bunting; assessor for three years, Addison Stratton; and all the propositions were carried with the exception of the proposition for a standard fire alarm. It was an exciting election from start to finish. There were 577 votes cast between the hours of 11:30 and 3:30 o'clock. The strife arose by one faction of the Republican party. After the fusion candidates were nominated and after securing enough signatures another ticket was put in the field with Edward B. Kimble for trustee and John A. Tice for treasurer, endorsing the remainder of the fusion ticket. But the strife waxed warm and strong and at the election the two gentlemen were defeated, giving Mr. Millard a majority of 45 and Mr. Bunting 79 majority.

Mrs. C. Dwight Divine entertained the members of the "Knitting Club" at her home on Canal street Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Coons entertained a company of friends at their home on Center street Tuesday evening.

"Uncle Jake" Frear, nearly 85 years old, who has been confined to his home for a week or more, came out on Tuesday morning on election day to cast his vote and walked home and smiled and said "No!" to an invitation to ride home in an automobile.

Joseph Merrill of Canal street recently slipped on the ice, fell and broke his arm at the wrist in two places.

The Win-My-Chum Campaign.

Interest still increases in the Win-My-Chum Campaign at Clinton Ave. M. E. Church. Each evening young peoples societies of other churches attend, and every one present last night was helped and uplifted by the wonderful interpretation of the text, by Rev. Mr. Weyant of Trinity Church, March 21st. Service at 7:30 o'clock under leadership of Rev. Mr. Bookout. Some good quartet music is promised.

No Time to Read.

"Pause, O youth or maiden," wrote Andrew Lang, "before you accustom your lips to this fatal formula: 'I have no time to read.' You have all the time which for you exists, and it is abundant. What are you doing with it—with your leisure? Mainly gossiping. Our modern malady is gregariousness. We must be in company chattering. 'To be always with others, always gregarious, always chattering, like monkeys in tree-tops, is our ruling vice, and this is the reason why we have no time to read and why you see so many people pass their leisure when alone in whistling or whitt'ing. They have time to whittle."

A B C of Safety First.

There is a tradition that the man who compiled the "Stop! Look! Listen!" admonition was well paid for his philological efforts. . . . A resident of Georgetown calls attention to a sign in a workshop in that section of the City bearing the letters "A. B. C." One is placed over each machine. The proprietor explained that this stood for "Always Be Careful." Perhaps the psychology of the initiated warning lies in the fact that the curiosity is bestirred enough to inquire about it—a little trick that advertisers know well.—Washington Times.

Easter Fires.

The early Saxons used to light Easter fires on the hills in expression of their joy. This custom only died out in the early part of the nineteenth century. It is only observed up to this day in the "Woods of Teutoburgum," where on the eve of Easter Sunday the fires are lit as of old.

Even Kipling Will Pun.

There is a new story about Mr. Kipling, for which G. F. Monkshood is responsible, having brought it out in his book, "The Less Familiar Kipling and Kiplingiana." It appears that a friend asked Kipling whether he would not write on airmen, as he had done on the commanders and crews of submarines. "Perhaps, some day," replied Mr. Kipling. "Oh, but you must," insisted his friend. "Let's see whether we can hit on a good title." "Well," said Mr. Kipling, after a moment's reflection, "what do you say to 'Plane Talks From the Sky'?"

A Nation Obeyed HER Command

JOAN OF ARC

In the world since history began stands supreme as the greatest woman who ever lived. Ignorant, unlettered, she rose from a peasant's hearth until, within a short span of two years, she stood beside kings.

At seventeen years of age she was commander-in-chief of the French armies. At nineteen she was burned at the stake by the people she loved. They did not understand.

It is a story which has thrilled men, women and children through the centuries. Now it is told, beautifully, wonderfully, by the marvelous motion picture.

KINGSTON'S GREAT WHITE WAY BEGINS

The section of Wall street in the neighborhood of Cohen's clothing store has taken on the appearance of the famous "white way" of New York city and visitors to that section of the city are greeted by the sight of one of the largest electric signs between New York and Albany. A sign 30 feet high and 5 feet wide has been erected on the front of the store and over three hundred electric light bulbs are used in the illumination of the sign.

At the top of the sign is the Cohen crest appearing in wavy lights while directly below is the name of the firm which is spelled out one letter at a time until the entire name "Cohen" is spelled out. The name then goes out and comes on again with the entire name spelled out at once. This is repeated over again. The lower section of the sign shows the Hart, Schaffner & Marx crest and burns continuously. The sign is painted a mission green to match the color scheme of the store and presents a very pleasing appearance during the day when not illuminated.

The sign was procured through the Kingston Gas & Electric Company and is one of the finest along the river. The sign may be read at a distance of half a mile and that section of the street near the store presents one with the impression of being in the vicinity of 42nd street, New York. Other progressive merchants in town will probably follow the Cohen firm and install similar signs on their places of business. The idea of electric signs and bright illumination of business shops and streets is one of the most modern and progressive merchants and business men everywhere are rapidly adopting the idea.

YOUR FIRE POLICY.

Have You Read It Carefully? Do You Understand Its Terms?

William Hardwick, Melville's leading grocer, was a man of forethought. He carried fire insurance both on his store and his residence. The policy applying to his store he kept in his house and that applying to his house and its contents he kept in his safe at the store. Thus in the event of a fire in either property the policy applying to it would escape the flames.

One night William Hardwick's slumbers were disturbed by the frantic ringing of the telephone.

"Come right downtown," urged an excited voice. "Your store's going up in smoke."

When Hardwick arrived the fire was under control, and fifteen minutes later the "all out" signal was sounded.

"I should worry," reflected the grocer, after a brief survey of the damage done. "There's about $6,000 worth of stock destroyed. And, as it happens, I carry just $6,000 worth of insurance." And, leaving one of his clerks to watch the premises, Hardwick went back to bed.

"Now, then, Mr. Hardwick," said the adjuster two days later, my estimate agrees with yours. Six thousand dollars covers all the damage done. That means that we owe you $4,500."

"What's that?" demanded Hardwick, indignantly. "You owe me $4,500? What funny game is this? Why don't you owe me $6,000, the face of my policy?"

"Because of the 80 per cent co insurance clause," explained the adjuster, and he indicated a paragraph in the policy which the grocer had so carefully guarded.

"This clause provides that we shall be liable for no greater proportion of the loss than the sum insured bears to 80 per cent of the cash value of the property insured. Your stock is, or was, worth $10,000. Had you carried $8,000 insurance we would have paid you your loss in full—that is, up to $8,000. But as it is, I repeat that we owe you but $4,500. If, however, the loss had been total we would have had to pay you $6,000, the amount of your policy. This misunderstanding has arisen, Mr. Hardwick, merely because you have never taken the time to thoroughly read and adjust your policy."

"Your carelessness in this regard has cost you $1,500, Mr. Hardwick. I am sincerely sorry for this, but fail to see that you have any one but yourself to blame."—H. J. Barrett in New York World.

Dogs and Dogs.

"You can keep a real fine dog in food," says the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, "at an expense of about $10 a month, while a real sorry dog can get out and make a living for himself."

Clever Advertising.

An ingenious advertisement recently made its appearance on the walls and boardings of a French town. It said: "A wallet containing the sum of 300 francs and a large number of orders has been lost by a traveling salesman of the firm of X. & Co. The finder is requested to return the orders to X. & Co. and to keep the 300 francs as a reward for his trouble in so doing."

Of course everybody read the advertisement. Of course everybody said to himself that the batch of orders on X & Co. must be a nice, fat one. Thus by a clever stratagem X. & Co. managed to diffuse among the public the impression that there was a large business, with an immense number of customers. "Not even the Americans," says the proud Frenchman who remits this example of Gallic enterprise, "not even the Americans could have worked the trick better."—New York Post.

Houses Made of Glass.

Glass is becoming more generally used as a building material each year. For some years glass bricks have been utilized where strength and durability as well as beauty were essential features. Glass is used for watercoating, for partitions, for ceilings and for facing the fronts of buildings. It is also being used for foundations.

It has been demonstrated that the crushing strength of glass is three times that of granite, six times that of ordinary brick and ten times that of concrete. Another advantage it has over these materials is that it is absolutely nonabsorbent, so that a glass building can be perfectly dry inside, no matter what the atmospheric conditions outside.—Atlanta Journal.

Fish Versus Mosquitoes.

Myriads of mosquitoes used to infest the rice plantations of Madagascar. Dr. Legendre, a savant well known in scientific circles in Paris, conceived the idea of freeing the region of malarial trouble by the introduction into the watercourses of cyprin, or red fish, which are very fond of both mosquitoes and their eggs. Within five months 500 fish multiplied to 10,000, and these destroyed nearly all the mosquitoes. The fish besides being a malaria destroyer became very important as an addition to native food.—London Telegraph.

Smiled the Wrong Way.

"Well, my boy," he asked cheerfully at the breakfast table the morning after Cholly had taken the leap, "how did things go last evening? Did she smile on your proposal?"

"No," said Cholly faintly, pushing away a breakfast roll. "She smiled at it." Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Compensation.

Life is compensatory to this extent: When a man reaches the point at which his wife is compelled to make the living for the family he has also reached the point at which the fact ceases to humiliate him.—Tosha Capital.

What Every Woman Knows.

A woman always knows when a man is in love with her. A man often knows a woman is in love with him when she tries to—Exhance.

A. A. MINSTRELS

Black Face Comedy to be Varied by High School Students With "The Cicero-Cataline Squabble" on Friday Evening.

The A. A. Minstrels, the biggest dramatic event of the year at the high school, will be presented by the boys and girls of the school athletic association Friday evening in the auditorium. The proceeds will be for school athletics, both the girl's and boy's teams being benefited.

The black-faced portion of the production is, of course, the salient feature. The circle as originally planned has been changed to fifteen chorists, who will be aided on either end by an abundance of fool-knives in the jokesmiths, "Pretti" Joyce, "Caruso" Paillet, "Dude-Dude" Dana, and "Dug" Hicks. Most of these aren't stage names, but have been prefixed to their owners for many years. Their personalities are just as rich and original as their nicknames.

In the music line they have scratched up the favorite race songs of the school boys, such as "Pretti Baby," "Down Honolulu Way," "When Evening Shadows Fall," "How's Everything in Dixie," and will sing with a lively swing.

But the girls can't be downed in everything. It seems fourteen of the school's best, who are real dramatists, and who for one night will lose their respect for the stage old-fashionedness of old times, will form the second part of the program, a satire on the family conspiracy of Cicero and Cataline's speech to the senate revealing the plot. They've called it "The Cicero-Cataline Squabble" and with a 100 sense of comic timing humorous situations, bring in the women of the day. It's sort of a musical comedy, the school orchestra furnishing the music. After Scott wrote the play, there will be four scenes the first that of the Cicero-Cataline, the second the Cicero-Cataline, the third the Cicero-Cataline, and the last a street scene in Rome.

The cast of characters is the following: Cicero, a Roman consul and orator, Olga Owens; Cataline, a Roman consul, Mary Lawrence; Lucius, Cicero's wife, Helen Wood; Tullia, Cicero's daughter, Pauline Van Wageningen; Patrick Connor, policeman, Paul Safford; conspirators with Cataline: Marcus Lacer, Dorothy Brown; Tonnellus, Irene Jostovitz; Mithelus, Mary Bavin; Publicius, Helen Miller; Manlius, Lillian Heidman; Lacy Lentulus, Josephine Schmitt; Senatus Romanus, Helen Pennington; Dams ex Machina, Allen H. Scott; servant, Ruth Topwilliger.

Several selections will be given by the school's 14-piece orchestra, augmented by Donald Melville, xylophonist.

Admission will be 15 cents and after the minstrels the orchestra will play for dancing in the gymnasium, admission to which will be 10 cents.

AN ANGLICAN LITURGICAL.

Hans Kronold to Play at the Symphony Orchestra.

Today the American concert stage can boast of no more noted artistic personality than Hans Kronold, the eminent violinist. He was born in Krakau, Austria, but at the age of 14 came to this country, which has been for so many years his home and his country. In fact, Mr. Kronold is a New Yorker. For years Kronold's studies were carried on with Anton Hekking, solo cellist for the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and later solo cellist with the Danvers Symphony Orchestra of New York. Mr. Kronold has had a wonderful orchestral experience, having played under the baton of Urogiak, Tchaikowsky, Walter Damrosch, Anton Seidl and Emil Paur. He has also appeared with such world renowned artists as Schumann-Hofstad, Nordica, Eames, De Reszke, Biephon, Campanini, Schwanenka, etc. He will not only be the soloist at this concert to be given at the high school on Saturday evening, March 21, but at the public rehearsal in the afternoon, but he will play with the orchestra which will present as their symphonic work Mozart's "Jupiter Symphony," being played in New York this season, and always beautiful and appealing to music lovers as well as to musicians. Tickets for patrons and subscribers may now be had from Mrs. Jesse Ouellette. Patrons will have the first opportunity to secure an exchange of tickets, and subscribers next before the program will be open for the general public.
